SCHOOL RULING BACKED . . .

Nixon Supports Segregation End

By BARRY SCHWEID

Washington (AP) — After an initial and uncertain response, the Nixon administration pledged its resources Thursday to enforcement of the Supreme Court decision ordering an immediate end to racially separate public schools.

President Nixon promised the executive branch would "assist in every possible way" to overcome the "practical and human problems involved."

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the Justice Department will use "every available resource" for enforcement.

And Robert H. Finch, the secretary of health, education and welfare, said his department is "committed to the goal of finally ending racial discrimination in schools."

Even before they spoke out, the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, which won the Mississippi schools case over the government's opposition, began to move ahead on its own.

Jack Greenberg, the fund's director-counsel, called fund lawyers to his office in New York City to start applying the principle of Wednesday night's decision to pending school desegregation cases throughout the south and in parts of the North.

The President's remarks — issued 18 hours after the ruling — were cautious, emphasizing the view that "practical and human problems" are involved in the schools situation.

"With all of us working together in full respect for the law, I am confident we can overcome these problems," he said.

"I intend to use the leadership resources of the executive branch of government to assist in every possible way of doing so."

A few hours later, Mitchell, and then Finch, issued their own evidently more vigorous statements. And then Ronald L. Ziegler, the White House press secretary, said flatly, "The administration will enforce the law — the law as stated in the Supreme Court's opinion . . . the administration will carry out the mandate."

Mississippi will carry out the court's order of immediate desegregation in the 33 school districts, yet will continue the fight to change the ruling, Mississippi Atty. Summer said in Jackson.

Summer sai the Supreme Court apparently rejected existing desegregation plans because they did not bring an adequate percentage of mixing.

"It appears they have gone into the force-integration-by-the-numbers game but they haven't told us what the magic numbers are," he said.

"Every district is told to terminate dual schools at once and operate only a unitary school system. What is a unitary system? We've been trying to find that out for a long, long time. They don't tell us what it is, but they say do it."

Gov. John Bell Williams said Mississippi school children had been "cruelly offered as sacrificial lambs on the altar of social experimentation."

The court did nothing about de facto segregation in the North and East, he said, but intended to "exercise a double standard."

Lindbergh Is Okay After Plane Crash

Manila (UPI) — A single-engine plane piloted by world-famed flyer Charles Lindbergh and carrying another American crash-landed Thursday in a rice field in the northern Philippines. Both men escaped unhurt.

The Manila rescue center said Friday that Lindbergh, the 67-year old "Lone Eagle" who became the first person to fly the Atlantic alone 42 years ago, and anthropologist Dr. Robert Fox of Manila were in good condition following the belly-landing five miles outside Echague town in Isabella province. They were expected to be flown back to Manila Friday.

They were rescued by residents of Echague, about 200 miles north of Manila, near the base of the rugged Sierra Madre straddling the northeastern frontier of the Philippines main island of Luzon.

DRAFT LOTTERY PASSED

But House Bill Runs Into Delay In Senate

. . . MANSFIELD URGED TO RECONSIDER

Washington (UPI) — The House approved and sent to the Senate Thursday a bill to give President Nixon his draft lottery plan, but the Senate said it would not consider the measure this year.

Informed of Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield's decision against taking up the lottery now, Nixon urged him to reconsider.

"Clearly, this is not a matter which should be casually dismissed or made a political football," Nixon said.

Liberals' Desire

At the heart of the controversy was a desire on the part of many liberals in Congress to undertake a a broad overhaul of the Selective Service this year. The President wants his lottery implemented now with further reform next year after a study commission makes its recommendations.

"Pointing to the further reforms which might be made is no excuse to make no reforms at all," the President said at the end of the day that saw draft issue bouncing back and forth between the House, the Senate and the White House.

The House overwhelmingly approved the lottery plan, 32 to 13, after beating back efforts to open the lottery bill up to all sorts of further selective service changes.

In Face Of Threat

Mansfield announced his decision against taking up the bill on the Senate floor and in the face of a threat by the President to implement a modified random selection plan by executive order by the end of the year if Congress does not act.

Under the President's lottery proposal passed by the House, 19-year-olds would make up the draft pool and those to be inducted would be selected at random by a computer.

With the Republican-Southern Democrat coalition composing the majority, the House refused on a 265-129 vote to consider abolishing student deferments and other draft reforms that had been demanded by a group of liberals of both parties.

Not In Senate

It was shortly after the House began debate on the bill that Mansfield told his Senate colleagues: "The President's proposal will not be taken up in the Senate this year."

The reason, said Mansfield, was that too many senators, particularly Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., wanted to tack on amendments to achieve more extensive draft reform.

Tre administration wants to delay a thorough overhaul until a special presidential commission reports next year on the possibility of an all-volunteer Army.

Moreover, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, has indicated he would rather postpone all draft legislation until next year rather than bring up Nixon's bill and see it become a vehicle for further draft law changes.

CAP Looking For Missing Airplane With Four Aboard

Omaha (AP) — Nebraska Civil Air Patrol set up a search Thursday afternoon for a missing plane with four passengers aboard.

The single engine, private aircraft, en route from Worland, Wyo., to Rapid City, S.D., was last heard from about 4:45 p.m. Wednesday, when the pilot radioed to the airport at Chadron, reported CAP Lt. Mike McCurdy in Omaha.

McCurdy said the names of the pilot and three passengers were known but he could not release them. However, Paul Bailey, chief of flight service at the Chadron airport, identified the pilot as Milton E. Collins of Indianapolis, Ind.

McCurdy said search operations were stymied by weather conditions at Chadron, where snow had grounded search planes. He said about a dozen persons started a search with ground vehicles and more were being added as fast as possible.

The Cessna 182 is brown and white with tail No. N 998B, McCurdy said.

He said the Civil Air Patrol in South Dakota is on a standby alert and would be in the search soon.

Inquest Into Kopechne Death Must Be Secret, Court Decides

Boston (AP) — The long-delayed inquest into Mary Jo Kopechne's death must be held in secret, with the press and public barred, the Massachusetts Supreme Court ruled Thursday.

The court also ruled that witnesses at the inquest, including Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, in whose car Miss Kopechne died, may be accompanied and advised by counsel, but it denied a request from Kennedy's lawyers that they be given the privilege of cross examination.

The court also denied a request from Kennedy's lawyers that Edgartown District Judge James A. Boyle be disqualified from presiding at the proceeding.

The decision leaves to Boyle the matter of rescheduling the inquest. It was to have started Sept. 3 in Edgartown, but was postponed Sept. 2 when Kennedy's lawyers took their requests to the state supreme court.

Kennedy was flying from Washington to Boston when the state supreme court's decision was announced.

He talked briefly with newsmen upon his arrival here, saying he thought it would be "improper for me to comment before I have had a chance to see the decision."

In its decision, which was unanimous and spanned 17 typed pages, the court said it ordered the inquest held secretly "to protect the integrity, the investigatory character and the effectiveness of the inquest."

The secrecy provision, the court ordered the transcript of the inquest impounded indefinitely. But it also insisted on the transcript's eventual publication.

"All facts concerning the inquiry must eventually be published," the court said, "and at the earliest possible time, consistent with fairness to all parties."

The court took special care to emphasize that its guidelines were to apply to all Future inquests in Massachusetts — not just to the Kopechne inquest.

The court also rejected the contention of Kennedy's lawyers that the inquest was of an accusatory nature.

"We think that the inquest proceedings are not accusatory and that they should be regarded as investigatory," the court said.

WEATHERMAN'S TRICK MAY TURN LAND WHITE

Little goblins and witches may have to trudge through the snow Friday night in parts of Nebraska to collect their Halloween treats.

Up to eight inches of snow fell at Moorefield in southwestern Nebraska Thursday, with six inches of the white stuff at Enders Dam.

The snow, covering northern, western and southwestern sections of the state, was falling Thursday from Colorado to northwest Kansas and Nebraska.

Wellfleet received five inches of snow, and Holdrege, Swanson Lake, Palisade, Beaver City, Sidney and Culbertson reported four-inch falls.

The heavy snow at Alliance coated trees and broke off limbs. The snow's weight also downed power lines in some areas, causing power outages.

The snow forced the closing of several schools in the McCook area.

Crop experts in the Scottsbluff and Alliance areas expressed concern for the sugar beet crop as the new snowfall delayed the harvest for the second time in the last two weeks. Only about 40% of the crop in the South Platte Valley was reported out of the ground.

At North Platte an old record of 13 inches of snow received during October, 1896, was broken Thursday as this month's total there topped 14 inches.

Central and eastern portions of the state received moisture in the form of rain and drizzle Thursday. Lincoln's total stood at .54 of an inch.

Friday's forecast calls for snow flurries in the central and eastern areas of Nebraska.

Public Broadcasting 'Lives' For Community Service Goal

The president of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting said in Lincoln Thursday evening that the "reason for being of public broadcasting is community public service."

The remark came in an address by CPB President John W. Macy Jr. to some 400 guests at a dinner held in commemoration of the completion of 15 years of educational television broadcasting in Nebraska.

Macy praised the Nebraska Educational Television Network's program of coverage of state and local government, including the program, "From the Nebraska Unicameral."

Such services are "imperative" in a big, modern-day society, he said, to increase the individual citizen's awareness of the processes of public bodies, and "penetrate the barriers of big government."

Began In 1954

It was on Nov. 1, 1954, that KUON-TV (Channel 12) went on the air as the nation's seventh affiliate of the National Educational Television network and the nation's eighth noncommercial television faculty.

The station, licensed to the University of Nebraska, is now the hub of a nine-station statewide network. It has since won nationwide recognition as one of the outstanding state educational television networks in the country.

In 1968 Macy left the chairmanship of the U.S. Civil Service Commission to become president of the CPB, created by Congress in the Public Broadcasting Act of 1967.

The purpose of the CPB, Macy said, is to aid community educational stations "in developing this medium as a constructive force in improving American society."

The corporation, he said, would join individual stations in "a combined mission seeking both diversity and excellence" in educational programming.

The corporation, he said, "has recognized the essential role of the individual station."

Educational television should not, he claimed, become a "monolithic system," but should remain as close as possible to the American people.

The organization nevertheless has a mandate from Congress, Macy said, to interconnect the 50 state systems to make available live coverage and taped national programs.

The use of satellites for interconnection is becoming an increasing possibility, he said. A seven-day-a-week, 22,000-mile network is being planned to achieve interconnection in the meantime.

Macy spoke following brief remarks by Dr. Joseph Soshnik, president of the University of Nebraska Lincoln campuses and outstate activities; J. Arthur Danielson, chairman of the Nebraska ETV Commission; Chalmers Marquis, executive director of the Educational Television Stations Division of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters; Jerry Appy, vice president for network affairs of the National Educational Television network; and master of ceremonies Jack McBride, general manager of the Nebraska TV Network.

Reds Reject U.S. Move To Break Stalemate

(C) New York Times News Service

Paris — The chief American delegate at the Paris peace talks on Vietnam, Henry Cabot Lodge, proposed that no more than four members of each of the parties at the talks meet in a closed-door session next Tuesday, the day after President Nixon's planned speech on Vietnam, to begin "serious negotiations." North Vietnamese and Viet Cong representatives rejected the proposal. (More on Page 2.)

Russians Come Closer

Abingdon, England — The Russians have come even closer to taming the power of the hydrogen bomb than they had suspected, a team of British scientists found after testing a Soviet machine in Moscow. The Soviet work has solved some of the problems of developing fusion reactions, potentially more useful than the fission reactions of atomic power.

Consumer Bill Offered

Washington — In a message to Congress, the President asked for a number of new weapons to protect consumers against shoddy merchandise and deceptive sales practices. (More on Page 2.)

Administration Backs Court

Washington — President Nixon, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, issued statements that committed the administration to support and enforce the Supreme Court decision ordering school desegregation "at once." (More on Page 1.)

Agnew Does 'A Great Job'

Washington — Standing next to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew at a White House reception, President Nixon defended the vice president, who, he said, "has done a great job for this administration." Agnew then spoke of "the need for self-discipline of the adult community." (Another story on Page 2.)

Tax Law Changes Adopted

Washington — The Senate Finance Committee — by voting a low income allowance for the poor, an increase in the standard deduction and cuts in tax rates — adopted the tax-law changes that had been voted by the House to give tax relief to people of every income.

U.S. Has Poison Bullets

Washington — A secret 1963 Army memorandum revealed the existence of more than 20 bullets containing fatal disease toxins. Knowledgeable sources said the bullets, stockpiled at Pine Bluff Arsenal, Ark., could logically serve only one purpose: political assassination.

Reds Reject U.S. Move To Get Talks Moving

World News

Paris (UPI) — The United States tried unsuccessfully Thursday to break the Vietnam peace conference deadlock by proposing that the negotiations be switched to smaller, secret meetings. The Communists rejected the American move.

Chief U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge proposed that the first such secret session be held Tuesday, the morning after President Nixon delivers his much-heralded speech on Vietnam.

But a disappointed Lodge told newsmen after Thursday's formal conference session that the Communist negotiators "rejected it out of hand, I'm sorry to say."

Both Hanoi and Viet Cong delegations countered Lodge's proposal with their own call for direct negotiations between Washington and the Viet Cong.

Lodge had proposed that the number of negotiators from each of the four delegations — U.S., South Vietnamese, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong — be reduced from 13 to four each, and that the texts of their proposals in the behind-the-scenes talks be kept secret.

The U.S. delegation chief said he made the proposal "because I felt so strongly that we needed a new approach to break out of the present sterile situation and promote serious negotiations."

"The tragedy was that thousands who participated wanted only to show a fervent desire for peace, but were used by the political hustlers who ran the event."

Agnew said the country cannot afford to be divided or deceived by what he called the decadent thinking of a few young people.

"We can, however, afford to separate them from our society — with no more regret than we should feel over discarding rotten apples from a barrel" he said.

Slot Machine Pays $9,216.70 —Plus Stamps

Reno, Nev. (UPI) — The Mapes Hotel-Casino said Thursday it had paid the biggest slot machine jackpot in history.

A spokesman said it paid $9,216.70 to a California man who hit the jackpot on a machine which accepts from $1 to $5 per play.

The $5 risk gives the player a chance at a jackpot which increases with the volume of play.

The Mapes said it was the largest single payoff for a three-reel slot machine in history. In addition, the winner got 92,167 trading stamps, enough to fill 73¾ books.

Granada Hills, Calif. (UPI) — Two brush fires burning 30 miles apart in southern California were contained Thursday by fire fighters.

A 4,400-acre blaze near this community 20 miles north of Los Angeles was reported completely encircled by fire lines early in the afternoon.

A second fire near Santa Paula in Ventura County erupted Thursday morning and was contained after blackening close to 300 acres. For a time, the flames were heading toward Santa Paula two miles away but a shift in the wind removed the threat.

American Wins Nobel Prize For Subatomic Particle Work

The New York Times

Stockholm — A 40-year-old American was awarded the 1969 Nobel Prize in physics Thursday for his discoveries, first published when he was 24, concerning subatomic particles, the basic units of energy.

An Englishman and a Norwegian were jointly awarded the Nobel Prize in chemistry for their work concerning the shape, or conformation, of organic molecules.

The American winner was Murray Gell-Mann, who has been professor of theoretical physics at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena, Calif., since he was 26. He was cited "for his contributions and discoveries concerning the classification of elementary particles and their interactions."

The chemistry winners were Derek H. R. Barton, 51, professor of organic chemistry at London's Imperial College of Science and Technology, and Odd Hassel, 72, now retired, formerly professor of physical chemistry at Oslo University.

Each prize is valued at $73,000, and multiple winners split the cash award.

The first of Gell-Mann's discoveries, published in 1953, produced a highly theoretical classification system for particles entailing esoteric concepts of "isospin" and a new quantum number, pertaining to the intermittent radiation of energy, called "the strangeness number."

A second major discovery in 1961, found that the so-called symmetry principle in mathematics could be applied to elementary particle physics. Under this principle multiplets with the same spin and parity were grouped into super-multiplets thereby opening the way to the prediction of new particles.

Agnew Raises Specter Of Official Repression

Harrisburg, Pa. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew raised the possibility Thursday night of official repression as the result of antiwar protests he said have been exploited by politicians and perverted by subversives into "something sick and rancid."

"Will we stop the wildness now, before the witch-hunting and repression that are all too inevitable begin?" the vice president asked.

He denounced politicians who support antiwar demonstrators, describing them as "ideological eunuchs" who straddle the philosophical fence, "soliciting votes from both sides."

Standing by his description of some antiwar protesters as "impudent snobs," Agnew sharply escalated the battle of words in a speech to a Pennsylvania Republican $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner.

Gullible Preyed On

Anarchists and Communists, Agnew said, have preyed on the good intentions of the gullible and are like "vultures who sit in trees and watch lions battle, knowing that win, lose or draw, they will be fed."

"It is time to stop dignifying the immature actions of arrogant, reckless, inexperienced elements within our society," Agnew said. "The reason is compelling. It is simply that their tantrums are insidiously destroying the fabric of American life."

The vice president condemned leaders of the Oct. 15 Vietnam Moratorium whose objective, he said, was immediate, unilateral withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Vietnam.

'Evil' Lurks

"Evil cloaked in emotional causes is well disguised and often undiscovered until it is too late," he said.

Speaking of the Oct. 15 demonstrations, Agnew said:

Consumer Bill Inadequate To Nader

The New York Times

Washington — President Nixon asked Congress Thursday for a variety of weapons to protect consumers against deceptive sales practices and shoddy products.

His associates in the administration and allies on Capitol Hill immediately hailed the bill as a "consumer's bill of rights." Just as quickly, critics — in Y, critics — including public-interest crusader Ralph Nader—called it inadequate.

Nixon's major and perhaps most controversial proposal would for the first time permit consumers to band together to sue in federal court for damages resulting from certain kinds of fraudulent or deceptive practices.

In addition, the measure would expand the jurisdiction of the Federal Trade Commission, establish a new consumer protection division in the Justice Department under an assistant attorney general, set up a new Office of Consumer Affairs in the Executive Office of the President and take other actions designed to help both buyers and "honest and conscientious businessmen."

Nixon's proposal for a law that would permit consumers to bring combined — or "class" actions against companies engaged in fraudulent sales practices has been favored in consumer-protection circles for some time. Present federal law gives private citizens no standing to sue for fraudulent or deceptive practices.

Fights Flare On Cambodia Border

Saigon (AP) — Battlefield action flared in two areas along the Cambodian border Thursday.

American air cavalrymen fought a battle near Tay Ninh, and enemy gunners shelled an isolated U.S. Army Special Forces camp in the foothills of the central highlands.

Allied headquarters announced that 102 Americans died in combat last week, 24 more than the previous week. South Vietnamese forces suffered 297 killed, 24 fewer than the previous week. The allies reported killing 2,303 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, nearly 400 more than the week before.

In five separate attacks Wednesday and Thursday, enemy gunners blasted the U.S. Special Forces camp at Bu Prang and two nearby American artillery bases with 80 rounds of mortar and recoilless rifle fire. Bu Prang is about three miles from the Cambodian border and 105 miles north-northeast of Saigon, in the foothills of the central highlands.

Allied casualties were listed as light. The Special Forces camp, set up to watch the border, is manned by about 11 American Green Berets and several hundred Vietnamese civilian irregulars.

Farther south, troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division clashed with an estimated enemy company 20 miles northeast of the border city of Tay Ninh.

The fight broke out just before noon when a ranger squad spotted a group of enemy soldiers moving along a wooded trail and tried to set up an ambush, but the enemy fired at the rangers before the ambush could be sprung.

Nebraska Bar Selects Davies

Omaha (AP) — The Nebraska Bar Association Thursday named Thomas M. Davies of Lincoln as president-elect.

The action came at the opening of the association's annual meeting in Omaha. The meeting continues through Friday.

Davies is a graduate of the University of Nebraska Law school and was admitted to the bar in 1937. He was a state senator from 1949 to 1951.

William J. Baird of Omaha will become president of the association at the end of the annual meeting.

At a luncheon meeting Thursday, Bernard G. Segal of Philadelphia, president of the American Bar Association, criticized action by the U.S. Senate which recently approved an amendment giving the governor of each state veto power over the funding of legal services under the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Segal said the amendment, sponsored by Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., would "limit representation of the indigen in the crucial areas of social significance."

In preconvention action, the House of Delegates adopted a report which, in effect, would strip the executive council of many of its powers and transfer them to the house.

High Court Action

The action was subject to adoption at a meeting next summer of a set of by-laws and, ultimately, final approval by the Nebraska Supreme Court. The new procedure could be in effect in about one year.

Membership on the 13-member council would be reduced to nine and the House of Delegates would be cut from 39 members to 36, elected from the six judicial districts.

The executive council would become the administrative arm of the association.

Traditionally, the association's power has been centered in the council. It is now made up of one representative from each of the six judicial districts, three at-large members, the president, president-elect, immediate past president and chairman of the house.

made to Sen. Roman L. Hruska (R-Neb.) and to Benjamin A. Goble of the Lincoln Police Department at the annual dinner meeting of the Nebraska State Bar Association Thursday evening.

An award of appreciation, which is given in recognition of the services of an individual who is not a member of the bar, was presented to Goble. In making the presentation, Charles F. Adams of Aurora, president of the association, paid tribute to the many years of Goble's involvement in activity devoted to public understanding of liberty under law. Adams said, "The hundreds of presentations you have made before high school audiences and your development of respect for the law among young people, speak eloquently of your personal dedication to the ideals for which this award stands."

Goble, who is coordinator of police and community relations, is a member of the Lancaster County Crime Commission and is credited with having been largely responsible for the founding of the project known as PAL (Police and the Law), which drew public attention for several years to outstanding examples of law enforcement in Lincoln.

The commission's purpose is "to define, mark and maintain" the boundary between the United States and Canada.

The present U.S. commissioner is Edward King, appointed by President Kennedy. King has resigned.

Herman was a regional campaign director for President Nixon last year. After the election, he worked in New York and Washington on the new administration's transition.

Lindbergs Buy West Point Paper

West Point (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lindberg of Albion have purchased the West Point Republican.

The Lindbergs have been managers of the Albion News and publisher Jack Lough said no successors for the Lindbergs have been hired.

The Republican, a weekly newspaper which claims to be the second oldest in the state, has been owned for six years by Bob and Shirley Bogue, publishers of the Oakland Independent.

Purchase price of the Republican was not disclosed. The Lindbergs will take over operation on November 10, four days after its 100th anniversary edition.

Omahan Dies In Auto Crash

Omaha (UPI) — Larry E. Fanning, 23, of Omaha, was pronounced dead on arrival at Douglas County Hospital Thursday evening following a two-car crash which injured two other persons.

The crash at 84th and L Streets backed up traffic for several miles at 6:15 p.m.

Treated for a scalp wound and released from county hospital was Fanning's wife, a passenger in his car.

Also injured was Eugene L. Richards, 37, of Springfield, identified by authorities as the driver of the other car.

Two County Men Hurt In Collision

Two Lancaster County men were reported in satisfactory condition at Bryan Hospital Thursday night following a two-car accident on South 56th about two miles south of Highway 2 Thursday afternoon.

John Paul Jones, 21, of Hickman, and Marvin Weber, 35, of Firth, were injured in what the State Patrol described as a "head on, car-to-car accident."

2 Iowa Men Charged In Holdrege Shooting

Holdrege (AP) — Two Iowa men were charged Thursday with burglary and shooting with intent to kill, wound or maim in connection with the wounding of a Holdrege policeman in the early morning hours.

Holdrege policeman Roger Johnson, 40, remained in good condition with a bullet lodged in his pelvic bone. Police Chief Russell Edwards said the bullet would be left there.

The two men charged in the incident were identified as Robert Allen Coleman, 27, Norwalk, Iowa; and James D. Hainline, 32, Des Moines. Charges were filed in Phelps County Court.

Each was held in the county jail on $20,000 bond.

Edwards said Johnson apparently was shot between 1 and 2 a.m. as he attempted to apprehend the two men after they had broken into the Strong Brothers Chevrolet Garage through a rear window. They were trying to open a safe inside the garage, Edwards said.

He said several shots were fired, but only one struck Johnson.

Massive Manhunt

The two men were apprehended about 7 a.m. in a field after a massive manhunt.

After Johnson was shot, another policeman and a state patrolman who were heading to the scene turned in the alarm. The search shaped up quickly.

It included two sheriffs and a deputy, state patrolmen, police officers and a number of people who had citizens band radios in their cars.

Edwards said the two men fled separately on foot through the city and doubled back. They bumped into each other in the southeast part of town, he said.

The physician who operated on Johnson, Dr. Evald Prems, said the bullet entered the abdomen on the lower left side, narrowly missing the major blood vessels and arteries leading to the leg.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It would have been amazing if the U.S. Supreme Court had made any decision other than the one it did ordering the immediate desegregation of Mississippi public schools. In any reasonable intepretation of the Constitution and in light of past actions by the court, segregated schools simply are not in the cards.

And we find nothing to encourage us to agree with the statement of Sen. James O. Eastland, Mississippi Democrat, that "the decision spells disaster for public education in Mississippi and many parts of the South."

There is no question that integration will bring with it many social problems. The traditions of an area are not easily swept away, often provoking violent conflicts where they are directly challenged. This could happen in Mississippi.

But it is true, also, that many southern schools have integrated and are now operating peacefully and with no apparent difficulty. In Little Rock, Ark., where school integration was a test case, the cause of segregation has all but disappeared.

Ultimately, this is a cause which cannot stand the light of reason and the truth of humanity. Reason tells you that a constitution cannot apply to one member of society and not another. It tells you that a citizen is a citizen, regardless of race, creed or color.

Your own humanity tells you the same thing. It tells you that a human being is a human being and it makes no difference what the color of his skin might be or what religion he might practice.

But it would be a mistake to think that the only place we are talking about is the South. It would be a mistake, too, to believe that the only subject we are talking about is education. Neither the South as a region nor education as a subject has a corner on discrimination or segregation.

★

There are schools in the North where the court ruling will apply with equal force and equal need. There are schools throughout the United States which made only token moves toward equal education for all children and it is time they changed.

It is time they discarded the deceitful ways of free choice, of bussing and other devices aimed at giving the impression of equality but delivering just the opposite.

And it is time that the principles of an equal education for all are applied to housing, employment and all other aspects of our society. We have come dangerously close in the past year to deluding ourselves with pious adherence to the law-and-order theme.

We have tried to use this theme as a cloak of legitimacy for the intolerances that remain within us. We have given this theme top priority and thereby subjected such things as full equality to a secondary role, hoping that they might never again gain first position in our efforts.

This simply will not work and is a deceitful practice to begin with. We cannot cite the illegal actions of a few within certain minority groups as a basis for condemning the entire group. We cannot deny the rights of many because of the abuses of a few.

The high court has given a new and timely impetus to the cause of total desegregation. Given no encouragement in the decision is the hope in some quarters that a court with new faces might reverse the trend of past decisions.

The court has said that the principle of individual freedom and equality under the law is not subject to negotiation. These things are guaranteed to all of us and they cannot be taken from even the least among us.

To have these rights requires no qualifications at all, except that the basic law of the land be followed. They are rights that are given to you at birth, not something you have to earn by being born of the right parents or practicing any universal set of beliefs.

'You An Extremist Who Thinks It's Time For Desegregation?'

Welcome, Little Children

Come, little children, and ring the front doorbell tonight. Come in your skeleton and devil suits, your raggedy clothes, your dirtied faces and your anxious looks. Talk about "tricks or treat" if you want but the main thing is to hold open that big bag.

Maybe it's a single paper sack. Too bad if it is. Before the night is over, the bottom of it will give out and the goodies you have collected will be lost along the way. Maybe it is a strong enough sack but too small, causing you worry that there will be enough room for all the things you get.

But maybe you are an old hand at this thing and your sack is big and strong. Being a veteran, you start early and will be among the last to quit. You will return home with enough sweets to keep you upset for days.

You are welcome because it is a kind of fantasy in which you are engaged, although you don't exactly know it. It is a fantasy of witches, spooks and goblins — figments of the imagination which let us see and think about fabulous things that really do not exist.

It is a fantasy of importance, of great maturity, of strength, of influence and of plenty. At times, we all wish we could be something we are not or that our fondest hopes could be fulfilled. And what more delightful fulfillment is there than more candy, gum and popcorn balls than you can eat at a single sitting?

Ring every doorbell in the block and along every street. We'll fill your bags and, in return, you will fill our hearts with the gladness of your joy, the exuberance of your youth and the honest simplicity of your behavior. We're sorry it's not a more even trade — we are getting the best of the deal.

Watchdog Panel Useless

Nearly six months ago, President Nixon appointed a 15-member blue-ribbon panel to study procurement and management practices of the Pentagon. This could have been an assignment of some value to the taxpayer, but with the manner in which the President went about it, it's sort of like asking Harriet to testify against Ozzie or convincing Old Dog Trey to leave his master's feet.

Eight members of the watchdog panel have interests totaling more than $1 billion in defense-related businesses, according to Sen. William Proxmire, the Wisconsin Democrat who has raised one of the loudest voices against waste in the Defense Department. In addition, he points out, the panel's chief administrative officer is a Pentagon staff member.

The Pentagon would erase the objection by arguing that those eight members, by virtue of their knowledge of military procurement procedures, can more objectively view national defense needs. And, supposedly, they would be in a better position to recommend in which areas the economizing axe should fall.

Sen. Proxmire, however, points out the very real and human possibility of conflict in which the eight "may be faced with recommending changes which may hurt their own interests. "The panel has become another creature of the Pentagon," he says. ". . . at best a sham, at worst an indication of how powerful the Pentagon has actually become — so powerful that it is able to control those who would criticize it."

Proxmire, in reality, is the watchdog. He is pointing out that a panel weighted so heavily in favor of the Pentagon is doing nobody any good except the Pentagon, least of all the taxpayer.

MARQUIS CHILDS

New York's Mayoralty Race

NEW YORK — In the bright, brisk fall weather, Mayor John V. Lindsay is the bright, brisk, all-purpose candidate. What is apparently happening here has the look of a political miracle after those dark days in February when the city was broken by a 12-inch snow and every taxi driver wore a "Lindsay Must Go" button.

The secret of this transformation is not hard to find. It has little to do with ideology — those abused tags, "liberal" and "conservative." If the mayor is re-elected to a second four-year term, the answer will be television, the money to pay for it and the power of the office to project the man who holds it.

The outcome might be different had the strategists for Lindsay's principal opponent, Democratic candidate Mario Procaccino, had the foresight to lock him up under guard for the duration. Once Procaccino was out from under cover, the result was all but inevitable. Conceivably, he has more capacity than the mayor to govern this ungovernable city.

Under the camera's cruel eye on screen he was a hopeless clod. We may be desperate, New Yorkers have been saying, but we're not that desperate. One consequence, and it will be a factor in the outcome, is that citizens who never before took any part in a campaign have been pushing doorbells and raising money for Lindsay.

Most polling samples show that the mayor has won back a large share of the Jewish vote. About a third of the total Jewish voters three months ago were deeply alienated. They had seen themselves as victims of the rising tide of black militancy and the mayor as the protector if not the creator of this militancy. Out of the bitter ruckus in the autonomous Brownsville school district came the feud between the teachers' union and the blacks.

Jewish voters, however, have long been not merely "liberal," the tag most often applied, but discerning and discriminating. In the end they could not take Procaccino nor State Senator John Marchi, the Republican-Conservative candidate. That would have betrayed their patient, persistent participation in the political process.

Lindsay had at first believed that he could win back the Jewish voters at secondhand with the help of such loyal friends as Sen. Jacob Javits. He soon discovered that was an error and ever since he has been appearing five or six times each day and night in synagogues and before Jewish forums, often standing up to a furious barrage of questions. In these last days he is moving with hardly a pause through the Bronx and Queens, the far-out reaches of the city that the visitor to Manhattan never sees. And his opposition charges that the mayor is almost as unfamiliar with those remote outposts.

Behind all the noise of campaign oratory, the vituperative exchanges between the mayor and his rivals, some shrewd political strategy has also changed the picture of the certain loser. Directing the Lindsay campaign is Richard Aurelio, one of the smartest operators in the business. Most importantly he has maneuvered to bring leading Democrats around to support the mayor.

But, above all, it is the television image. Lindsay is typecast as mayor — the tall, handsome figure, standing for good government and clean politics. The stories are legion of his zeal to get before the cameras and his skill as role player. With champagne streaming down his face during the Mets' first victory celebration, he is said to have elbowed Gil Hodges out of the picture.

Ten days before the election, Lindsay listed his campaign expenditures as $1,700,000. This was four times as much as each of his rivals reported. It has bought a lot of television time on top of all the free time the mayor gets by virtue of his office on the nightly news shows.

Technically speaking, the mayor is a Republican. The ties to his party have been badly fractured, as have his ties with the Republican governor of the state, Nelson Rockefeller. Up for re-election next year, Rockefeller felt impelled to give a timid pat on the head to Marchi, running as a Republican and on the Conservative party line.

When the candidates at last fall mercifully silent and the last voter drops his ballot in the box, nothing will have changed. The city will still be close to breakdown. In whole areas, as The New York Times showed in a series of Hunts Point in the Bronx, elementary services — police, garbage collecting — have been all but abandoned. For the mayor, presumably Lindsay, in the next four years the choices will be even more ominously narrowed.

A Case Of Inferior Americanism

WASHINGTON — Ernie was the only man in the neighborhood who had not put a decal of the American flag on his car window. The neighborhood was a little uneasy about that, so a committee was appointed to go around and talk to Ernie.

"Ernie," we all said, after clearing our throats to get over our embarrassment, "Ernie, we've asked ourselves to talk to you about a rather delicate—"

"You want to know why I don't have the flag on my car," Ernie said, pouring a beer.

"Don't take offense, Ernie," we said. "It's just that we're proud of our neighborhood."

"So am I," said Ernie. "That's why I don't have a flag on the car."

"We don't want an un-Americans on the block," said ominously patriotic Pete McThurn, whose car not only had a flag on the window but also a sticker that said, "Love America or Leave It."

"Believe me, Pete," Ernie said. "I'm doing it for the neighborhood's benefit. All of us here are Americans, aren't we? All right, now when one American puts a flag on his car, what's he really doing? He's boasting. He's saying, 'Hah, you think you're an American? Look at me; I'm so American I've got the flag stuck on my car window.'

"The next guy says, 'I'm not going to let that Pete McThurn get away with feeling more American than me.' So he goes and gets a flag, too. First thing you know, everybody in the neighborhood has flags on the car."

"Nothing wrong with being Proud of your Americanhood," said Pete McThurn.

"Of course not," Ernie said: "But suppose everybody in the neighborhood puts a flag on the car. We're right back where we started before the car flags began appearing. There's nobody left to make you feel that there's somebody less American than you are. So you have to escalate. You've got to put on more flags. You've got to plaster the car with bumper stickers. You've got to drive around playing 'The Star Spangled Banner' from rooftop loudspeakers and threatening to punch any cars that don't stand up."

"Get to the point, Ernie," said Pete McThurn. "And the point had better be that you love America, or you'll have to leave it.'

"My point exactly," Ernie said. "I love America and one evidence of it is that I love my neighbors. I love them so much that I want them to have the luxury of feeling that they really are more American than at least one man in the neighborhood. By not putting a flag on the car, I hope to satisfy your patriotic need for somebody to feel more American than."

"Well," said Pete McThurn, "to tell you the truth, I always have felt more American than you, Ernie, and when you didn't put a flag on your car, I thought it meant you were the kind of guy who might sell secrets to the Russians."

"I hope you think better of me after my explanation, Pete."

"Well," said Pete McThurn, "I'm not sure what you're saying, but it doesn't sound too dangerous, considering you aren't as American as I am to start with. If you promise you're not going to sell secrets to the Russians, we won't have to ask you to leave the country."

"Scout's honor," Ernie said. And we all shuffled out, happy to have found someone whom we could feel more American than without having to worry that he was a rat.

"Oh, by the way!" Ernie called as we filed down the steps. "Would anybody be offended if I put a decal in my car window saying, 'I am a great husband and father.'?"

Later, at Pete's, we all agreed. The reason Ernie is less American than we are is because he has no sense of modesty.

News Changes Little Within Half Century

NEW YORK — If you're thinking the country's headed for disaster — what with the price of hamburger, with wars, strikes, rebellious youth and all the rest — I may have a note of cheer, of sorts. All this has been going on — off and on — for the past 50 years. It's really never stopped.

My refresher course in not-so-ancient history came from a 22-year-old book I found in a Massachusetts barn 10 times that old, a "family album of America in the years of peace from 1918 to Pearl Harbor." A war-to-war survey, you might call it.

And, by golly, if you didn't check the dates under the pictures, you'd think they were from today's news. A striking Columbia student is clubbed to the ground, a Negro is beaten to death in a Chicago race riot, young people are telling the old folks how to run the country, etc., etc . . .

Fifty years ago headlines were agonizing over rising prices and the housing shortage. Sound familiar?

Forty-nine years ago America was suffering from "war fatigue" and waiting eagerly for the "boys to come home." Substitute "rice paddies" for "trenches" and you've got the theme some of today's Moratorium marches.

Those aren't new, either. Remember the "Bonus Army" that marched to the capital in 1932?

Think we've got labor troubles today? Well, back in 1919 there were 2,000,000 people out on strike — and that included everybody from the Boston police to actresses to telephone girls. (There are some indications the last named never went back.)

Renters were on strike, too, against the landlords.

The frantic years after World War I had their share of radicalism. Historians blamed it on inflation and the high cost of living, labor's itch to organize, and the "Bolsheviks in Russia."

Assassinations have been with us all along. Huey Long fell in 1935. An assassin took a shot at President Roosevelt and killed Chicago's Mayor Cermak.

Moralists were clucking over the youngsters' "rebellion against the puritan code of morals." Young men were affronting the public dignity by putting on long pants at younger and younger ages. (Kids used to wear short pants, remember?)

And the police had their troubles enforcing prohibition. Today it's pot and they still have their troubles.

Forty years ago the stock market was acting up, unemployment was increasing, and there was nervous talk of a "recession." How's THAT for a summary of yesterday's Wall Street Journal?

JACK ANDERSON

Sen. Hart Conducts Study On Hospital Charges; Fees Of Pathologists Add To Phenomenal Costs

WASHINGTON — The high cost of dying is not a monopoly of the undertakers; the nation's 7,200 hospitals are taking in their share of the profits from sickness and death.

The sprawling, unsupervised hospital industry has been under quiet, coast-to-coast study for nine months by Sen. Phil Hart, D-Mich. His findings are so explosive that he has ordered his Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee to prepare the most exhaustive hearings in history on zooming hospital costs. The January hearings may run for weeks.

Under Hart's direction, government accountants have studied the finances of hundreds of hospitals to find out why costs jumped as much as 35 per cent since last January. The unpublished computations show average, per-patient costs vary from $28 to $135 a day, depending on the hospital.

The extremes are even wilder. Consider these examples from the subcommittee's confidential files:

—A 23-year-old New Yorker, his life ebbing after a violent auto crash, was brought into North Shore Hospital in Manhasset, Long Island. A few hours later, he died. The hospital and doctors billed his family and estate for $2,683 — more than $300 an hour.

—A union man with a better than average insurance policy was admitted to University Hospital, New York City. His ills kept him there for two months. The health insurance paid $14,054, but he was still swamped with a personal bill for $8,094.

—Another patient at University Hospital, a woman, was treated for nine days. The cost: $800 a day. After insurance, her personal bill was still $4,454.

—In Florida, a prominent newspaperman was ordered by his doctor to a hospital for emergency treatment of a bleeding ulcer. The hospital refused to admit the anguished man because he couldn't produce $250 advance payment on the spot. Only the intervention of his doctor got him admitted.

Hospital costs are multiplied by the featherbedding practices of the American Medical Association. The AMA-controlled accrediting groups, for instance, require a pathologist on every hospital staff.

These "circuit riders," as they are called by bitter hospital administrators, may lend their names to several institutions. They generally take a third of the gross pathology and lab charges — for work done by lower paid technicians.

A distinguished physician, head of a chain of hospitals, wrote Hart that pathologists have "a costly stranglehold on American hospitals . . .

"In a hundred-bed hospital," explained the disenchanted doctor, "the pathologist will take $100,000 a year or more out of that hospital for a few hours work. If 5,000 hospitals could just cut their donations to pathologists in half, it would save one quarter billion dollars a year or more."

This extra $250 million, of course, is added to the patients' bills.

Much of the blame for bewildering hospital costs comes from the cheek-to-jowl love affair between the Blue Cross and the hospitals.

It works this way:

Blue Cross pays its portion of the hospital costs, no questions asked, without pressing the hospitals to change their inefficient, antique ways. Since the hospitals are assured of payment, they don't reform on their own.

Most other health insurance firms are equally indifferent to the interests of their customers, who must pay for the rising costs — either in skyrocketed health premiums or backbroken bank accounts.

☆ ☆ ☆

The hospital mess is complicated by a bitter feud — outside of the public's earshot — between the profit and non-profit hospitals. The profit-seekers, many of them physicians trying to scalpel the patient's payroll two ways, have set up hospital holding companies that run or are building some 200 institutions.

The non-profit operators have complained to Hart's investigators that the profit-takers are pushing off the poorer patients on the non-profit hospitals. The doctor-businessmen have also cut such money losers as pediatrics, obstetrics, emergency rooms and training programs from their hospitals. This enables them to undercut the non-profit institutions with lower fees.

Unhappily, the hospitals haven't been able to reform from within. Inefficiency is rampant, as almost every patient knows from experience. There is also plain thievery — of blood, drugs, hypodermic needles, even bedsheets.

Sen. Hart, meanwhile, wants to hold hearings and study the symptoms before he prescribes remedies.

OFF THE RECORD By Ed. Reed

New Manpower Program Approach 'Is To Do Real Job For Individual'

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Deputy Manpower Administrator John L. Blake said Thursday the "new approach" in federal manpower programs "is to do a real job for the individual."

Blake said program titles and past red tape are "being tossed out so that state and local administrators can build programs around the individual."

"The main deliverer of manpower services will be the state employment office," he said. "It will be more a manpower delivery office than an unemployment office."

Blake, who supervises the U.S. Labor Department's $2 billion manpower programs, was in Lincoln to address the annual State Manpower Conference.

With expected enactment of the Manpower Act of 1969, the federal administrator said, "rural areas will be served by manpower programs."

Blake said Nebraska is receiving $8 million in manpower programs.

In the future, he said, funds and responsibility for manpower programs will be funneled through the governor's office, thus emphasizing the federal-state partnership in poverty and job training programs.

"We'll be getting the private sector involved in training programs for the d i sadvantaged and underemployed," he said in noting the success of the National Alliance of Businessman (NAB) program.

He said $420 million will go into the program, which is keyed to "hiring a man first, and then training him."

Blake said the NAB program is operating in Omaha, but it will become a statewide program, probably after Jan. 1.

State Labor Commissioner Thomas Doyle said Nebraska reorganized its services in anticipation of the new manpower program approach.

Blake also noted a "booster" program is planned in the new manpower act.

"If the unemployment rate in a state rises to 4½%, then an additional 10% in federal money is pumped into the manpower program," he said.

"This is designed to give the jobless worker the opportunity to go into a training program."

Blake said he is "optimistic" that equal employment opportunities for the minority races will continue to accelerate.

Legislative Clerk Eyes Welfare Dept. Offices

The legislative clerk's office is looking at an area in the Capitol expected to be vacated by the Welfare Department as an answer to increasing space problems.

"What I want to do specifically is move the b i l l room to bigger quarters because we do not have room for the volume of bills we're handling," said Clerk Vincent Brown.

"We were set up to handle maybe 900 bills and this year we had 1,440," he said. "It isn't a minor problem to keep the various versions of the bills separate. This becomes a major headache."

The Welfare Department currently occupies what is in essence a hallway that extends around the periphery of the front half of the Capitol's third floor.

But the department, which also has offices in two outside locations, has announced plans to consolidate office space on the fourth floor of the Woodmen Accident and Life Building just north of the Capitol.

The space will become available about March 1 when an addition to the present building is completed.

State Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, chairman of the Legislative Council executive board, said the Legislative Council had asked that the space be saved when it became vacant for the Legislative Council.

Ideas have included moving to the third floor the office of the legislative fiscal analyst with the bill drafter's office moving into the present analyst's quarters.

Also located upstairs could be a secretarial pool and offices of various state senators.

Brown said the third floor space would serve ideally "because its easily accesible from the legislative chamber and there's lots of room. It's the best solution they've ever come up with."

Governor May Tell Plans At Reception Set For Nov. 8

Gov. Norbert Tiemann may announce plans to seek re-election at a reception following the Iowa State football game Nov. 8.

Several hundred persons are expected to attend the event, scheduled for the Villager at 53rd and O in Lincoln.

Tiemann has publicly narrowed his political choices to candidacy for a second term or withdrawal from public life. He earlier ruled out a possible Senate race.

The governor told a news conference on Oct. 16 that he "thinks" the decision has been made, "but I won't admit it."

No Nebraska governor in the past 40 years who sought a second consecutive term has been denied re-election. If Tiemann were re-elected and served a full four-year term, he would be the first governor in Nebraska to hold office for more than six years.

Five Policemen Get Promotions

Police Chief Joseph Carroll announced Thursday the promotions of five Lincoln policemen effective Sunday.

Sgt. Eugene Armstead and Detective Roger Lapage will take the rank of lieutenant. Officers Max Meyer and Earl Franklin will become sergeants and Officer James Underhill will be promoted to detective status.

Rancher Battles Road Dept.; Route Threatens Water Well

By JOHN ARMSTRONG
The Associated Press

Parks — "When you lose your water," said rancher Ned Tecker, "that's something to fight about in the West."

But Tecker didn't strap on a six-gun, hire a gunslinger or round up some cowpokes to head 'em off at the pass.

He bought a newspaper advertisement.

Tecker decided to carry his message to the people after the Nebraska Department of Roads had "pushed our backs to the wall."

New Policy

In a full-page advertisement Tecker called for public pressure to force the Department of Roads to adopt a new policy on routing highways.

And he proposed that a 40-foot "shaft" of concrete and steel, faced with white marble and topped by a bronze eagle, be erected as a permanent symbol of that new policy.

Tecker claims the proposed routing of a new stretch of U.S. Highway 34 through the Tecker Ranch would eliminate a well suplying water to about 300 acres of good pasture land.

And he contends the state isn't willing to pay a fair price for the Tecker land over which the new highway would be routed.

"We're just small average farmers in the corner of the state," said Tecker. "But we had to do something."

The Tecker Ranch, located three and a half miles west of the small southwest Nebraska town of Parks. is operated by Ned and his wife Inez and Ned's brother Hal and his wife Doris.

The Teckers paid for an advertisement in the Omaha World-Herald and plan a similar one in the McCook Gazette to forward their cause.

Want Contact

They want the Department of Roads to promise that the state engineer or his counterpart will personally contact each individual affected by a highway project before the final engineering work is completed.

Ned said he has battled the Department of Roads since 1966 over the proposed routing of U.S. 34 and the price for the land to be acquired or condemned for the highway.

The matter is now in the hands of the Dundy County District Court, where Ned said the Department of Roads has appealed the appraisers' decision that the state should hike its offer to the Teckers by $3,400.

"The sad thing is, this all could have been avoided if a person of authority in the Department of Roads had just sat down with us for an hour or two to explain the project," Ned Tecker said.

"But no one, from office boy on up, has ever talked with us. And we've tried to see them twice, once in Lincoln and once in McCook."

Ned Tecker concedes that the proposal for a permanent "shaft" that could be erected on property donated by the Teckers "is a lot of blue sky," but he said such a marker would have merit.

For Future

As the Teckers' advertisement put it:

"We would trust that in generations hence, if some state department got off course, the citizens could point to this marker and say, 'Look, the records show that way back in 1970 the Department of Roads got way out of line and the voters rose up and said 'Listen, you boys get in line or somebody else will be carrying the ball.' "

Lincoln WICS Planning Temporary Girls Home

A residence for girls 16-18 years old who need a temporary home is being planned by the Lincoln chapter of Women in Community Service (WICS).

WICS is in the process of investigating funding possibilities for the $80,000-per-year project through federal agencies or foundations, Mrs. Fred Nevels Jr. said Thursday.

Mrs. Nevels, chairman of WICS recruiting and screening program for the Women's Job Corps, explained that the proposed residence would serve girls who have become separated from their home due to court action, family problems or other reasons.

Hire Staff

In addition to bringing various social and welfare services to the girls at the home, WICS will hire a couple to serve as house parents, two full-time staff persons, a part-time housekeeper and a full-time caretaker to provide a home-like situation and to teach domestic skills, she said.

The house will be designed for 12 girls.

Most of the girls will be in school and also will be assisted in finding employment, according to Mrs. Nevels.

Get Ready For Corps

While the temporary home situation will help some girls get ready to go in to the Job Corps, it should help others to complete their education and find good employment so that they do not have to enroll in the Job Corps, she added.

Presently volunteers are asked by WICS to take displaced girls for a few days. But the volunteers receive no remuneration and usually cannot house the girls as long as is necessary, Mrs. Nevels said.

Plans for the home were detailed to some 125 men and women attending the annual WICS Day luncheon here. It was held in connection with an all-day training workshop for volunteers in skills for working with other people.

Six Lincoln women and two men were recognized for their consistent assistance to WICS since the program began in 1965.

Matzke Eyes Congress Race

Stanley A. Matzke of Lincoln confirmed Thursday he has been approached about making a race for Congress next year.

The 36-year-old assistant director of resident instruction at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture said he is considering the possibility of seeking the Democratic nomination in the First Congressional District.

"But it's really premature to talk about it, since I'm a good way off from making any decision," he said.

Matzke is the son of the late Stanley Matzke of Milford.

The younger Matzke was superintendent of the NU technical school at Curtis before assuming his present NU staff position.

Tiemann, Hruska Named By Group To Honorary Unit

The academy will sponsor a "salute to excellence" weekend in Dallas next June 25-27, bringing together 50 persons of achievement in various fields of endeavor, and several hundred outstanding high school honor students from across the nation.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Here's November trembling on the brink. (That's a poetic way of looking at it — I'm a near-sighted poet.)

"The gloomy month of November, when the people of England hang and drown themselves," wrote Joseph Addison. A gloomy Gus of 1712.

The poets are down on November. I don't know why. I find November a brisk and bright month. Autumn nuts on the table. Hot buttered rum. Thanksgiving turkey.

("Seems like Novembers get colder than when I was a girl," said grandma. She got out her fox furs. Had little fox heads with beady eyes.)

These are winey days in the grape valleys of California. They've pulled the grapes off the vine and jumped on them.

France announced 1969 was one of the great years. (I think there is some French press agent working on this. I never saw so many great years.)

With California wines, they are all great years. The state is not dependent on variations of weather as in France.

Nobody knows about these things like a Chevalier de Tastevins. As a member of that noble Confrerie, let me tell you about it.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Confrerie des Chevaliers du Tastevins — (The Brotherhood of Knights of Winetasting) has become big in the U.S. these grapey days.

The Confrerie was founded in 1200. It celebrates the glory of the wines of Burgundy. I don't mean we won't drink the stuff from Bordeaux. But we don't sing about it.

The membership includes famous men from all over the world.

I am a member. Not a high-ranking member. A plain everyday knight. But we can rise from the ranks. And who knows? I may carry a marshal's baton in my knapsack along with my Scout knife with the corkscrew.

★ ☆ ☆

The finest thing of being a knight is that we learn to string out those snooty wine waiters in the posh restaurants.

"This was a very good year," he says showing us the bottle. ($8.50 a pop.)

Your ordinary fellow says, "Very good." He lets the waiter open the bottle. He tastes the little dollop in the glass. He looks serious. Then he nods.

☆ ☆ ☆

Not so with we Knights. "A very good year," he says. "What year was that, Coxcomb?" sas the knight.

The waiter must now consult the label. "A 1960, sir," he says. He pours a little in the glass.

There are several knightly ploys that can be taken.

You can say, "A little corky, isn't it?" That is a killer.

You can be dramatic. Take a sip. Choke. Grab your throat and spit the wine on the expenseive carpet.

"Garrrrr! Are you trying to poison me, Coxcomb?"

☆ ☆ ☆

There ae the advantages of being a wine-tasting knight. At our knightly dinners we do not have cocktails — it numbs the palate.

We pour champagne. (If you don't like champagne, go out to the bar. Have the bartender fill the glass with vodka and a little soda to make it look bubbly.)

We learn knightly things to say about wine.

"It has a good nose," we say.

"Reached its maturity," we say.

☆ ☆ ☆

We learn why red wines are served at room temperature. And why fish prefer to be eaten with white wine.

This gives you plenty of table talk — even though you may not be able to tell Musigny 1962 from sneaky Pete.

We say, "It has a fine bouquet, Coxcomb. But I think you stirred up the sediment when you pulled the cork. Be gentle, man!"

Coxcomb goes out in the kitchen and has a good cry.

☆ ☆ ☆

"I like wine because I hear it goes well with women and song." I made that speech to the brotherhood when I was elected to membership. In a little town in Burgundy.

We had been tasting wine all evening — that's the job of a knight.

Everybody stood up and cheered. And some of them then fell down.

Motorists' Mini-Quiz

Questions

A—Must vehicles from both directions stop for a school bus when loading or unloading passengers?

B—Are school bus operators required to come to a complete stop before crossing a railroad track?

Answers

A—It is illegal to pass a school bus from either direction when the bus has the "arm" extended. Motorists are required to slow down when the flashing lights are in operation and come to a complete halt when the arm is extended and remained stopped until arm is lowered.

B—A driver of a school bus transporting children is required to stop, open door, look and listen for trains before crossing track.

Abby: non-profit deal

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I was widowed. My children are married. Last year I married a well-to-do banker 20 years my senior. Before we were married (against my better judgment) I signed a pre-nuptial agreement intact. He told stating that I would be entitled to nothing if our marriage didn't work out. He promised to destroy the pre-nupital agreement after one year if our marriage worked out.

The year is up now and we have gotten along beautifully. He keeps telling me how "happy" he is, and how much he loves me, but he wants to keep the pre-nuptial agreement intact. He told me before we were married that he would provide for me in his will, but so far I haven't seen the will either.

Abby, he has never been married before and has no children to leave his estate to. He is a fine person, but I feel so insecure now, as if I were still a widow. I am unable to work, and I married this man for security. What should I do?

NO SECURITY

DEAR NO: Too bad you married him for security because you don't have any. If he refuses to produce the "will" showing that he has provided for you, and insists on keeping the pre-nuptial agreement intact, you had better have a showdown with him before investing any more of your time in what appears to be a nonprofit venture.

Pine Lake Cotner Terrace Wedgewood Manor in suburban areas

If it haunts you to see ghosts, goblins, ghouls, and other such garish genera, then you had better stay inside this evening. For — as all mothers who have helped with costuming know — this is Halloween, the one night of the year that belongs to the spooks. Unfortunately for the young trickers and treaters, the weatherman has shown signs of non-cooperation this year, and they may be wading through snow or skating on ice during their house-to-house haunting.

The witches, jack o' lanterns, black cats, and other Halloween regulars will be prevalent in Lincoln's suburban areas this evening, but our news this morning is of activity not necessarily related to the trick or treating.

One family of Pine Lake residents is enjoying a weekend full of treats. Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Rudolph and their family are combining business and pleasure with a four-day stay in Chicago, Ill. They left on Thursday for the northern city, where Dr. Rudolph — who is a professor of law at the University of Nebraska — is attending a "Law Students in Court" Conference.

The pleasure side of the trip for the family — which includes Alexey, four, Sarah, who is three, and Rebecca, two — will include the arrival of Mrs. Rudolph's sister, Mrs. Elliott Weiner, who is flying to Chicago from her Oradell, N.J. home to spend the weekend with the Rudolphs. In addition, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph and their family will visit with Mr. Rudolph's mother, Mrs. Bertah Rudolph, and his brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Rudolph and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rudolph, all of Chicago.

Remember last week's "trick or treat"? It was otherwise known as teachers' convention, but for all concerned, there were tricks and treats galore. The youngsters thought it was a treat, of course, but for their parents, it was a trick to accomplish something constructive during the two days of "freedom" for the young students.

We know of at least two young men who definitely thought that the two days were "treats" — Jimmy Beach, son of Wedgewood Manor residents Mr. and Mrs. Owen Beach, and Jeff Chance, son of Omaha residents Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chance. These two used the opportunity to get together for two days at the Beach home.

Halloween will be forgotten until next year by the first week of November, but that is when Mr. and Mrs. Beach are getting their "treats." They will be spending the week in the Bahamas, where Mr. Beach will be attending a convention.

MISS CHERYL FEJT

The engagement of Miss Cheryl Fejt of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fejt of Arthur, to James R. Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cook of Blue Springs, is announced this morning by the bride-elect's parents.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, March 28.

Miss Fejt is careering in Lincoln where she is on the office staff of Don Bryant, University of Nebraska sports information director.

Mr. Cook is a senior in the University of Nebraska College of Law.

Holiday Lessons

All homemakers in the area who are interested are welcome to attend the lessons on gift and food suggestions for the holiday season to be instructed by Miss Esther Kreifels, Lancaster County Extension Home Economist, during the week of Nov. 3.

During the meetings, exhibits on holiday gift wrapping will be provided by Mrs. Darrell Hornby, president of the East Lincoln Homemakers Extension Club.

The schedule of lessons is as follows: Monday, 1:15 o'clock, Lincoln Electric System; Tuesday, 9:15 o'clock, Lincoln Electric System; Tuesday, 7:15 o'clock, Lincoln Electric System; Thursday, 1:15 o'clock, CenGas Bldg., and Friday, 9:15 o'clock, CenGas.

Program

A program of current interest was presented Tuesday evening at the meeting of Ruth Pyrtle PTA, whose members heard a talk on, "Narcotics In Lincoln", by Lt. Paul Jacobson of the Lincoln Police.

Around The Town

The ghosts and goblins will walk tonight and tomorrow! Well, we greet a new month which, if we remember our literature as well as we should, wasn't too popular back in the 18th Century, either. We think it was Robert Burns who wrote "when chill November's surly blast made fields and forests bare." If we can believe the weather man the fields and forests around Lincoln are to be covered up — with snow.

• • •

We know one group that couldn't care less whether snow falls tonight or not — it has fun planned for the evening.

We're talking about the Revelers Club members who will be dining and dancing at Hotel Lincoln. "Hunters Ball" has been chosen as the theme for the party at which not only the new members, but also the new officers will be honored.

Marriage Revealed

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mis Jean Marie Besom of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Guest Besom of Heber Springs, Ark., to Kenneth Lee Schwartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schwartz of Gering. The wedding took place at a 4:30 o'clock service on Friday, Oct. 10, at Dallas, Tex.

A member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, the bride will receive her degree in January from the University of Nebraska.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Business Administration, Mr. Schwartz is associated in business in Dallas, Tex., where the couple will reside at 4025 Fairmount, Apt. 211.

There is a guest list, too, and it is composed of Mrs. Margaret O'Bannion of Scottsbluff; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cowell of Lead, S.D.; Mr. and Mrs. Don Young, Dr. and Mrs. George Lewis and Chan Tyrrell.

• • •

We have a homecomer to mention this morning — She is Mrs. O. R. Mallat who arrived home a day or two ago. Mrs. Mallat had been in Brookfield, Wis. — a suburb of Milwaukee — where she was the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mallat, and her three grandchildren, Jeffrey, Dennis and Deborah.

• • •

Football will elbow Hallowe'en completely out of the activity picture on Saturday — There is a football game which, we're sure no one has forgotten, and there are guests — and a party or two to mention.

Arriving from Denver will be Mr. and Mrs. James Nicola (Janice Campbell), and Mr. Nicola's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nicola. The foursome from Denver will be joined for the game weekend by another brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nicola of Wisner.

On Saturday, however, Mrs. James Nicola's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell enter the family picture when they entertain the out-of-towners at a pre-game brunch at their home.

• • •

We're sure that everybody remembers that Nov. 8, is the Homecoming game, and we're equally sure there will be guests galore from east, west, north and south — We'll talk about the visitors another day but right now we have the Monday Night Club 'Homecoming' party on our mind.

As is usual with the Monday Nighters, the party is a dinner dance and this one is to be at Hotel Cornhusker.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Van Bloom are serving as chairman for the festivities, and doing some extra-special things in the way of decorating is a committee composed of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Ludwick, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Dale Tinstman and Mr. and Mrs. Don Shurtleff. The reservations are in the hands of a committee of one — Mrs. Thomas C. Woods, Jr.

Turned legs and drop leaves characterize the table of the early 1700s. This oval top table is made of maple, oak, and walnut. It is a Massachusetts dining table.

BY RALPH AND TERRY KOVEL

"Thousand leg" tables really don't have as many legs as a centipede's, but sometimes a rare old gateleg table could have as many as 24 legs. During the 18th century the dropleaf table held by trend legs was in style. Each leaf was held by a swingout pair of legs. The more legs on this type of table the more unusual it is considered by today's collector.

The gateleg table was a practical as well as an attractive idea. When the legs were folded to the middle and the leaves were hung at the side of the table, a thin narrow table remained. It could then be used in a hall or small room. The opened table top with the leaves extended and the legs as a support could seat 8 or 10 people.

The gateleg was a popular American furniture form during the early 1700s. Its popularity has not disappeared.

Q. I am interested in collecting witch balls. How old are they? Have they been reproduced? Should the bottom be open or closed? Why were they made?

A. Witch balls are large, clear or colored glass balls made from about 1820 to 1900. The ball was made to keep the evil spirits away. A quick wipe with a cloth each morning assured the household of a germ-free day, and it banished the spirits of disease and disaster.

The Irish witch ball had a hole in the bottom so yarn could be kept inside. The witch was kept entertained by pulling the bits of yarn from the ball.

Some of the big glass balls were stoppers for open mouthed bottles. Some were floats for fish nets. Reproductions have been made but the glass is usually of a poor quality.

Q. Horse brasses are my son's hobby. I bought a strap with five brasses on it. They are old and dark and appear hand-hammered. Each brass has a different insignia. What is the significance? When were they first used?

A. Early horsemen decorated their horses to protect them from evil. Decorative brasses can be found dating back to 650 in Nineveh. Later, the brasses were just used for a decorative effect.

Some brass designs were made to ward away evil. The crescent and the eye were surrounded by the sun's rays. It was an emblem of the sun god Horus, so the shining brass reflected back the evil eye. Other brasses were designed to represent some symbol of heraldry of the family. Many were chosen just for their decorative effect. Others were made to represent societies, clubs, or commemorative events.

Many brasses have been made during the 19th and 20th centuries as souvenir pieces. They may never have seen a horse.

B. Jay Becker

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Four Spades.

	♠ K J 9 7 4 ♥ 5 ♦ 6 4 2 ♣ A J 7 3
♠ A Q 10 6 2 ♥ Q 7 ♦ K Q 5 3 ♣ Q 5	N W E S
		♠ 5 3 ♥ 10 8 7 3 ♦ A J 10 ♣ 9 8 4 2

The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Dble	2 ♥	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

North leads the king of hearts and then the ace. How would you play the hand?

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Clubs and North leads the jack of hearts. How would you play the hand?

	♠ A Q 6 ♥ 2 ♦ A 7 2 ♣ A K Q J 10 4
♠ 7 4 2 ♥ A 8 4 ♦ K Q 6 5 3 ♣ 7 2	N W E S
		♠ K J 10 9 5 3 ♥ K 9 6 5 ♦ — ♣ 9 8 6 5 3

1. It is obvious from the bidding that North has either the ace of diamonds or king of clubs (possibly both). There is no danger of going down if North has the ace of diamonds, so you must play on the assumption that South has it. South may have some such hand as:

♠ 5 3 ♥ 10 8 7 3 ♦ A J 10 ♣ 9 8 4 2

To cover this possibility, ruff the second heart, draw trumps, and lead a low club toward dummy's queen. If North does not take the king he will never get it, and if he does take it you later discard two diamonds from dummy on the A-J of clubs. Your only losers are a heart, a diamond and a club.

It would be a mistake to lead diamonds ahead of clubs. Thus, if South had the hand shown, he would take the queen of diamonds with the ace and return a diamond. The contract would then automatically go down one. You would also go down if you started the clubs from dummy in order to take a club finesse. You would eventually lose a heart, a club and two diamonds.

2. Win the ace of hearts, draw trumps, and cash the ace of diamonds. If both opponents follow suit, you can assure the contract by leading another diamond and playing low from dummy. This play guards against a 4-1 diamond division and guarantees twelve tricks.

If you were to go up with dummy's queen instead, and it turned out that the diamonds were divided 4-1, you would be forced to rely on a spade finesse. You should not subject yourself to such a risk when you can nail down the contract by simply conceding a diamond. True, this will cost you 30 points more often than not, but this is a very tiny premium to pay for insuring a slam.

Day Of Decision

Saturday is the day of decision for three Big Eight football teams, Nebraska, Colorado and Missouri.

The winner of the Colorado-Nebraska game could be tied for the Big Eight lead Saturday evening; the loser most surely will be out of the conference race.

Missouri, riding a crest only a week ago, could find itself out of the race only eight days later if it can't stop the Purple Power from Kansas State.

We think when you look at the Big Eight standings Sunday morning, you'll see Kansas State, Missouri and Nebraska tied for the lead with 3-1 records.

Oklahoma will be fourth at 2-1, Colorado will be fifth at 2-2, Oklahoma State sixth at 1-2, Iowa State seventh at 1-3 and Kansas last at 0-4.

Trying to make a comeback this week after 32-15-2 for .692 last week, making the season mark 219-76-4 for .739, here goes:

The Big Eight

NEBRASKA 27, Colorado 21 . . . That's a lot of scoring in the mud, sleet and snow, but you've got to score to win this battle.

MISSOURI 14, Kansas State 10 . . . The Tigers eat passing teams for between meal snacks and even Joe Namath has a bad day once in awhile. Lynn Dickey hasn't had one yet this season.

OKLAHOMA 28, Iowa State 7 . . . The Sooners are still a strong contender despite what happened to them last week.

OKLAHOMA STATE 17, Kansas 13 . . . Pepper Rodgers is pushing the panic button at KU and his Jayhawks may have left their game on the practice feild Monday and Tuesday.

The Top Ten

OHIO STATE 41, Northwestern 14 . . . Isn't it getting a little boring having the top rated teams play patsies week after week?

TEXAS 35, Southern Methodist 14 . . . Ditto.

TENNESSEE 28, Georgia 21 . . . The Vols have to prove their ranking.

ARKANSAS 40, Texas A & M 0 . . . Ho-hum!

PENN STATE 45, Boston College 0 . . . Yawn!

SOUTHERN CAL 34, California 7 . . . Pass the No-Doz.

FLORIDA 28, Auburn 20 . . . Ah, now there's a top tenner with a toughie.

UCLA 35, Washington 0 . . . Pass the pillow.

NOTRE DAME 54, Navy 0 . . . Z-z-z-z-z-z-z-z-z.

The East

AIR FORCE over Army . . . DARTMOUTH over Yale . . . PRINCETON over Brown . . . SYRACUSE over Pittsburgh . . . CORNELL over Columbia . . . HARVARD over Penn . . . COLGATE over Lehigh . . . RUTGERS over Delaware.

The South

HOUSTON over Miami, Fla. . . . ALABAMA over Mississippi State . . . GEORGIA TECH over Duke . . . CLEMSON over Maryland . . . NORTH CAROLINA over Virginia . . . SOUTH CAROLINA over Florida State . . . MEMPHIS STATE over Tulsa . . . DAVIDSON over VMI . . . KENTUCKY over West Virginia . . . BOWLING GREEN over Marshall . . . RICHMOND over The Citadel . . . VIRGINIA TECH over William and Mary . . . TULANE over Vanderbilt.

Buffs Hope To Ride Anderson To Big 8 Title

. . . COLORADO HAS TWO GOALS: BIG EIGHT CROWN, 5,000 YARDS FOR ANDERSON

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — Colorado, suddenly thrust into the thick of the Big Eight title chase, hopes to ride to the championship on the heels of a runner his coach calls "the best football player in the nation today."

The Buffaloes pin their hopes on hard-charging Bob Anderson, a converted quarterback.

Anderson's success this Saturday could be the key when Colorado invades Nebraska's Memorial Stadium in a crucial conference game. Both teams need a victory to remain in title contention.

Colorado coach Eddie Crowder has nothing but praise for Anderson.

"He has done it all," said Crowder. "He has got to be a top Heisman Trophy candidate right now if value to a team means anything at all."

Anderson was the spark for Colorado in its 31-24 upset of previously unbeaten Missouri last weekend. The 208-pound, senior tailback gained 132 yards on the ground against the tough Tiger defense and scored twice.

Colorado, Nebraska and Missouri are tied for second place in the Big Eight with 2-1 records, while Kansas State's 3-0 mark is tops.

When the season began Colorado had two main objectives — win the Big Eight title and help Anderson reach 5,000 yards in career total offense.

Anderson's production against Missouri pushed his varsity total to 4,474 yards, with four games left in the regular season. The 5,000-yard goal is still within his reach.

Anderson opened the 1969 season at his usual quarterback spot, but in the third game against Indiana Crowder pulled a surprise by shifting the rock-hard veteran to tailback.

The senior set university career records for rushing 2,226 yards, and scoring, 188 points, in the Missouri game. The previous scoring record of 176 points was set by Byron (Whizzer) White, an All-America back for Colorado in 1937 and now a U.S. Supreme Court justice.

Either Jim Bratten, a junior who hadn't started a game until last week's contest, or sophomore Paul Arendt will open at quarterback against Nebraska.

Bratten played most of the Missouri game despite being hurt in the second period. Arendt was in long enough to throw a 79-yard scoring pass and another 57-yarder that set up a touchdown.

Ward Walsh, a junior letterman, should start at fullback, and sophomore Bob Masten will get the call at slotback.

Lettermen dominate the offensive line except for junior Eddie Fusiek at tackle. Split end Monte Huber is the Buffaloes' favorite aerial target, ranking sixth in the conference in career receptions.

The Colorado defensive platoon, headed by tackle Bill Collins and end Bill Brundige, was called the finest that Crowder has had at Boulder by Nebraska scout Jim Ross.

Colorado stands 3-3 for the season, having posted wins over Tulsa, Iowa State and Missouri and losses to Penn State, Oklahoma and Indiana.

ATHLETES FILING SUIT

Ask $1 Million At Wyoming

. . . BLACKS SEEK REINSTATEMENT

Cheyenne, Wyo. (AP)—Fourteen black athletes, suspended from the University of Wyoming football team over a protest, filed suit against the University for $1.1 million in U.S. District Court here Thursday.

Their complaint also asked the court to order them reinstated on Wyoming's football team, ranked 15th nationally among major colleges.

The players asked $75,000 apiece in damages for loss of their scholarships and allegedly reduced earning power as possible professional football players.

The suit, filed by attorney William Waterman, also asked $50,000 in punitive damages.

The complaint contended the players were suspended from the team for violating a rule the players claim is unconstitutional.

The rule, promulgated by coach Lloyd Eaton, banned player participation in student demonstrations.

The blacks were suspended after they wore black armbands to Eaton's office as part of a protest over alleged discrimination at Brigham Young University, the Wyoming football opponent the week the players were suspended.

The controversy has caused ripples elsewhere. Three black members of the Wyoming track team turned in their equipment, quit classes and left. Two other black trackmen have been noncommittal. There are no black football players remaining.

In Fort Collins, Colo., student body presidents of the Western Collegiate Association condemned the Wyoming trustees and administration for supporting Eaton's action. A resolution decried "any practice that is intended to deny the full enjoyment of civil rights."

The controversy over BYU, which never has had a Negro football player, is expected to be discussed Nov. 3 in Denver when Western Athletic Conference athletic directors meet.

In Phoenix, Ariz., sports editor Vern Boatner of the Phoenix Republic said some WAC officials are concerned that the conference may get a "lily white" image...

He said BYU has no black players. Wyoming has suspended its Negro players and there are no Negro freshmen at either Texas-El Paso or Wyoming.

Meanwhile, Eaton has relaxed his rule. He now bans demonstrations only on the playing field. But he refused to reinstate the 14 blacks he suspended, contending they violated training discipline by defying a rule of the coaching staff.

Yanks To Farm Club

New York (AP) — The New York Yankees assigned six players including third baseman Bobby Cox and first baseman Len Boehmer, to their International League Thursday and promoted nine farm club prospects to the Yanks' 40-man roster.

NU Quarterback Starter Undecided

. . . MORE SUBBING IN LINE

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

The Nebraska quarterback situation this week has reverted to the pre-season format with indecision on whether it'll be Jerry Tagge or Van Brownson as the starter Saturday against Colorado.

Tagge is the Big Eight's No. 2 passer and No. 2 in total offense, but Husker coaches were impressed with Brownson's showing when he entered last week's Oklahoma State game in the second half.

"Jerry has done a lot of good things this season," head coach Bob Devaney said Thursday in discussing the quarterback situation. "But Brownson executed things well when he got in Saturday.

"Both have been executing well in practice this week and both have been throwing well. Neither makes many mental mistakes, either, when we set them up with play situations and ask them to call the play.

"They generally call the play we want."

Brownson has worked with the No. 1 unit most of this week and was there again Thursday. Devaney said this was a preparatory measure in case he decides to start Brownson Saturday.

"Van hasn't worked with the No. 1 unit much recently and we thought if there was a chance we might start him, we'd better let him work with them more this week," Devaney pointed out.

The Husker head coach also said there might be more substituting in the offensive line this week.

"Our alternate line played well last week," he noted. "And we probably should use some of them more this week.

Tight end Frank Patrick was given the go-ahead for duty Saturday despite a heavily-taped wrist. Patrick worked in full gear for the first time Wednesday and Devaney said he appeared to be catching the ball well Thursday.

"I saw him catch a couple out there," Devaney said. "One of them was a real good catch."

Frosh Decision Today

A decision will be made early this morning on whether to go ahead with this afternoon's freshman game between Iowa State and Nebraska at Memorial Stadium.

Freshman coach Jim Ross is to check with Dick Perry of KFOR's Morning Show at 6 a.m. this morning for a weather forecast, then discuss the situation with Iowa State officials.

If there is any doubt about the weather being good today, Devaney said the game would be rescheduled for next Friday.

Pep Rally Tonight

A pep rally is scheduled for 6 p.m. tonight at the corner of 17th and Vine near the student housing units, whose residents have declared this week "Go Big Red Week."

Head coach Bob Devaney and all members of the team will be present for the rally.

Anderson Scores 78

Colorado tailback Bob Anderson's 78 points ties him for second place in the NCAA statistics in scoring.

Kansas State's Mack Herron is the nation's scoring leader with 84 points, followed by Anderson, Oklahoma's Steve Owens and West Virginia's Jim Braxton, all with 78 points.

UPIer Picks Buffs

Milton Richman, football forecaster for United Press International, has picked Colorado over Nebraska. Earlier in the week, two Associated Press pickers split on the outcome of the game, thus giving Colorado a 2-1 edge among wire service forecasters.

Eight Doane Seniors Seek Clean Record

Crete — Eight Doane College football players will be honored Saturday afternoon in pre-game ceremonies before the Tigers' final game of the season with Nebraska Wesleyan University.

The eight are all Doane seniors who have gone four years without experiencing a loss and who will be concluding their careers on Saturday. The eight are split end Larry Channel, McCook; defensive back Dennis Ferry, Ceresco; quarterback Larry Green, Port Arthur, Tex.; linebacker Dick Held, Bellevue; defensive end Glenn Mitchell, Port Arthur, Tex.; fullback Tom Randick, Evergreen Park, Ill.; center Paul Schelstraete, Chicago, Ill.; and flankerback Clifford Smith, Chicago, Ill.

During their four years at Doane the Tigers have gone 7-0-1, 8-0-1, 10-0 and 7-0 to string together a 36-game unbeaten streak that ranks as the longest in the nation today and fourth longest in NCAA college division history.

Two of the eight — Green and Schelstraete — have earned honorable mention all-American recognition while three of the group were first team NAIA District II selections last year.

Each senior will be introduced before Saturday's game and will receive a special certificate and medal from Doane Centennial Queen Patty Long, Norfolk junior.

Schelstraete is the only one who has started every game for four years while Green has missed just one start in that time and that was because of an injury.

Lenhardt Named

Boston (AP) — Don Lenhardt, former major league outfielder and longtime Boston Red Sox scout, was named to the team's coaching staff Thursday new manager Eddie Kasko said.

MAYBE THE BEST . . . Popplewell.

Buffs' Popplewell Being Touted As All-Big Eight

. . . PENN STATER SAYS 'HE'S THE BEST

After Colorado's loss at Penn State earlier this year, a dejected Buff center Don Popplewell was hurrying towards the showers in Beaver Stadium when he was grabbed by Penn State's All-American Mike Reid, a standout defensive tackle.

"Buddy, you're the best damn center I have played against in my three years," said Reid with a grin.

A year ago, Oregon's All-PAC 8 nose guard George Dames called the then rookie center the best he'd faced . . . and it was Don's first varsity football game as the Buffs walked over the Ducks by 28-7.

When it boils right down to it, they may be right. The 230-pound junior from Raytown, Mo., played a hellish game against the Tigers last week, driving out foe after foe along with guard Dick Melin to open holes for Bob Anderson's bullish bursts up the middle.

In fact, several recent Buff TDs have come right over this pair's back and CU coaches are calling Pop's blocking some of the best in recent seasons, thus projecting the big kid into prime contention for all-Big 8 center honors.

"I know it's getting better each week," says Popplewell, referring to his play. "I am starting to block like I know I should and I have been getting down to make tackles on punts a lot lately. I feel we have a great offensive line right now, maybe better than last year even though we did lose Mike Montler and Kile Morgan. Melin and Dennis Havig are as good a pair of guards as there is in the league and Jim Phillips and Eddie Fusiek have really learned those tackle spots."

The former prep fullback and linebacker was switched to the pivot a year ago and the move has paid off handsomely for the CU staff with Popplewell's improved play each week. He's extremely fast, and very strong against the pass rush. His weigrt has gone from 210 as a freshman to 230 this year. "And I'm going to work on the weights after the season and make 240 next fall," says the genial center.

Popplewell was a prep standout at Raytown and was recruited by Missouri's Dan Devine. "But really, everybody in Missouri went to MU and I wanted to be different," recalls Popplewell. "I knew that hardly anybody from Raytown had ever made it down there and I liked Colorado's climate better, plus the campus. I figured that if I couldn't make it at Colorado, then it wouldn't be a bad place just to be a student."

The former Missouri state prep heavyweight wrestling champ loved beating his own state team last week. "I really was up for that one and wanted to make a special effort," said Don. "Man for man, they are still the toughest team we play every year. Penn State was tough, but Missouri would beat them every time. Nebraska will be the biggest defensive line we have played this year and that's going to be a challenge."

— LINKS CHALLENGE WESTSIDE—

Southeast, Pius X Try Comebacks

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Another intra-city battle highlights the high school football scene in the Capital City this weekend, with an important clash between two top-ten rated teams also on the slate.

Coach Frank Solich's Southeast Knights and the Pius X Thunderbolts tangle Friday night at Seacrest Field, with No. 5 ranked Northeast entertaining Bellevue, the state's No. 4 rated team, at Seacrest Saturday night.

Lincoln High travels to Omaha for a Friday night engagement with Westside, while coach Lee Zentic's East High Spartans enjoy the weekend off.

Both Southeast and Pius X will attempt to get on the winning side of the ledger again after being sidelined in recent games.

The Knights, who got off to a fast start with three straight victories, have now suffered four consecutive setbacks.

"The enthusiasm that we had at the first of the season seems to be returning," Solich said, "and that's a good sign. The boys have worked real hard in practice this week and we hope it will pay off with a win."

Solich said that back Harry Meginnis, who was pacing Southeast until his injury against Fremont nearly a month ago, "is still hobbling and if used at all will have to be used sparingly."

Coach Vince Aldrich's 'Bolts, who played their first four foes on even terms, have suffered a pair of lopsided defeats the last two weeks.

The 'Bolts were first jumped on by Sioux City Heelan, 54-6, then lost 32-14 last week to No. 1 rated Boys Town, and will be looking to reverse that trend against Southeast.

Lincoln High is also on the comeback trail, but faces a tough obstacle in Westside.

"Their record may not look too hot on the surface," Links coach Andy Loehr said, "but look who they've played."

Westside, expected to be one of the powers in the state in pre-season polls, has lost four times, but all four were to teams in the state's top ten, Bellevue, Creighton Prep, Tech and Burke.

Last week the Warriors knocked Omaha North from the top ten list with a 17-6 triumph.

Lincoln High, meanwhile, stumbled, 6-0 to underdog North Platte last week in a Trans-Nebraska conference game, and will be trying to rebound by duplicating last year's 9-6 victory over Westside.

The Northeast-Bellevue clash Saturday night carries with it greater statewide significance than any other of the weekend.

Coach Art Bauer's Rockets have climbed steadily in the ratings since two early season losses to Southeast and East, and have captured their last four in a row, piling up 115 points while limiting the four opponents to just 22 counters.

Last fall Bellevue squeezed out a hard-fought 9-7 decision over Northeast.

City Tennis Courts Have New Surfaces

Tennis weather is fading fast but the city has resurfaced and renetted courts at Roberts Park, 56th and Sumner Sts., and Tyrrell, 68th and Baldwin Sts.

The City Recreation Dept. said the courts will be ready for full use next spring but in the meantime, tennis players can use the indoor tennis courts at East High School on Wednesday evenings. The City Recreation Dept. is staffing the indoor courts on a trial basis to see what type of response is received.

NU-Colorado Harrier Run Saturday Now Off

The Nebraska - Colorado cross coustry met scheduled at Pioneers Park Saturday morning has been cancelled, the Husker athletic department reported Thursday.

Next competition for Nebraska is the Big Eight meet at Kansas State next week.

Bird Hunters Luck So-So

. . . POOR WEATHER FORECAST

Saturday's pheasant season opener across most of the state appears to offer mixed potential. Hunters willing to work should have good success, while cushion-riders and fair-weather gunners may have a rough time of it. Poor weather, bad roads, and heavy cover will greet shooters, according to Game Commission field reports.

The entire state except for the southeast corner bounded by U.S. Highways 81 and 34 will open to both pheasant and quail shooting one-half hour before sunrise on November 1. The southeast opens the following weekend on November 8.

Generally wet weather with rain over much of the state and snow in the western part has kept farmers out of the field, and the result is that corn, milo, and other crops are still standing. The wet weather has also made roads in many areas muddy and impassable.

Hunting prospects across the state, by district, for the opener appear like this:

SOUTHEAST

Prospects appear good in western Fillmore and Thayer counties, with good numbers of birds on hand. Some progress had been made on the milo harvest before wet weather set in. Some county roads are quite muddy and may offer hunters some problems. Good numbers of birds are on hand in Saunders, Butler, and Seward counties, but weather on Saturday will be a factor there also. Farmers in western Cass and Sarpy counties report seeing good contractions of ringnecks, more than were around for last year's opener. Hunting in the rest of this district is closed until November 8.

NORTHEAST

Harvests in Dakota, Dixon, and Thurston counties are behind schedule like much of the rest of the northeast. Bird populations throughout the area are generally down because of a severe winter last year and habitat. Some local areas are reporting a few more birds than originally expected. Isolated areas may have populations equal to last year. Wet weather in Wheeler, Greeley, and Boone counties has delayed the harvest, leaving an estimated 85 percent of the grain in the fields. Country roads there will not be in good shape if drying weather does not come.

SAND HILLS

Never considered ringneck habitat, the Sand Hills this year will again offer only limited shooting. Some areas have populations comparable to last year, while others are down considerably. About 20 percent of the corn and milo there has been harvested. Roads in some areas are in poor condition because of rain.

PANHANDLE

A good to excellent opener is on tap in the Panhandle if weather co-operates. Two-to-five inches of snow fell on the area at mid-week, and most of the corn and milo still remained in the fields. Good numbers of birds are on hand in the Alliance, Hemingford, and Hay Springs area. Prospects in Sheridan County are about average or a little below average, but Cheyenne County should offer fair to good sport if roads are passable.

SOUTHWEST

Up to six inches of snow were on the ground in parts of the southwest on Thursday, covering muddy fields and roads already soaked by rains earlier in the week. As much as 90 percent of the corn and milo remains unpicked in some areas. Good populations of birds in Harlan and Phelps counties in the eastern part of the district and in Chase County along the western border will offer good sport, if weather allows hunters to get into the field.

Gophers Lose Two Regulars

Minneapolis (AP) — The Minnesota Gophers, heading for their worst football finish since the 1959 team lost eight of nine games, have lost two defensive regulars for the rest of the season.

Dave Nixon, a defensive end and linebacker, said Thursday he has decided to give up football for the remainder of the season because of knee and back injuries.

Tackle Steve Thompson, who suffered a knee injury in last Saturday's 35-9 loss to Michigan, underwent surgery Thursday.

The Gophers, 0-5-1 this season, play the Iowa Hawkeyes at Iowa City Saturday.

Ex-Nebraskan Stith Doubtful Oiler Starter

Houston (AP) — The Houston Oilers activated three defensive players from their squad Thursday and said three other players are doubtful participants for Sunday's Boston game with the Boston Patriots.

Questionable players for Sunday are George Webster, linebacker with a shoulder injury, Hoyle Granger, running back with ankle injury, and Carel Stith, defensive tackle from Nebraska, who turned an ankle Wednesday.

Doane Ranked 13th

Kansas City (AP) — Texas A&I, with a 6-0 record, remained firmly entrenched as the No. 1 NAIA football team in the nation, garnering 155 out of a possible 160 votes. Doane, Neb., now 7-0, ranked 13th.

Omaha Icers Come Home

Omaha — Remember that popular lyric refrain a few years back—you've lost that lovin' feeling?

The Omaha Knights hockey team never has had any love for other Central Hockey League clubs, but the newest fuzzy-cheeked skating crew certainly has that winning feeling.

Back in town for the first time since they opened the season at Waterloo Oct. 11, the Knights were given a welcoming luncheon here Wednesday by the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

Omaha lost at Waterloo, but won the next five straight on the road trip. Team and league-leading scorer Mike Robitaille summed up the club best when he said, "sometimes you have that winning feeling, and this team has it."

Robitaille, a defenseman, who normally shouldn't score much from his position, already has tallied five goals and with eight assists, has 13 points. He had only five goals in 43 games last year.

"There's only 10 years of pro experience combined on the whole club," said player-coach Larry Popein of his team which averages 21 years of age.

Popein introduced squad members to the packed gathering at the Blackstone Hotel and added, "these kids have so much desire and determination, but most of all pride.

"They've been down twice going into the third period and have come back to win. This is a good indication of the type of play you'll see here this year."

Season ticket sales for the Ak-Sar-Ben action have gone over the 1,000 mark, and last year's 290,000 attendance figure should be exceeded with ease.

Jake Milford, Omaha general manager, said, "folks will see wonderful hockey here this year. These kids are all fast, aggressive and they won't quit."

The Knights have gotten the fastest start of any previous club since either Montreal or New York put an entry in the CHL here. One other six-game streak was established, but it was in mid-season.

Omaha plays its first home game Friday night at 8 p.m. against Kansas City, the only club the Knights have not yet met. The two teams had some fierce battles in the CHL playoffs last winter.

There are new faces in the lineup this year, however, veteran forwards Don Luce and Jack Egers have 13 and 12 points respectively.

Dennis Dupere, Bert Wilson and Andre Dupont, the latter being the Rangers' No. 1 draft choice, are also putting spark into the club. The goaltending of Peter McDuffe has been outstanding. The 5-9, 175-pounder has only allowed 11 goals in five games for a 2.20 average.

The Knights play again Sunday night against Waterloo at 7 p.m. Sunday games start at that time, weeknight contests at 8 p.m.

NU Baseballer Jim Stevenson Dies In Vietnam

Omaha (AP) — Army 1st Lt. James D. Stevenson, a University of Nebraska graduate and former baseball player there, has been killed in Vietnam, his family said Thursday.

The Defense Department informed relatives that Stevenson, 24, who received his commission through the NU's ROTC program, died Sunday while commanding a military vehicle in combat near Nha Trang.

Stevenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Derrill W. Stevenson of Western Springs, Ill., married the former Janet Stites of Omaha after they met at the university.

Northwestern JC Wins McCook Harrier Meet

McCook (AP) — Northwestern Junior College of Scottsbluff, won the Nebraska junior college cross country tournament Thursday as 19 runners competed in rain and snow.

John Perez of Northwestern ran the three-mile course in 17:30 for first place. Ken Fricke of McCook Junior College was second with 17:34, trailed by Tom Camargo of North Platte Junior College, 18:09, and Bill Rose of McCook, 18:14.

Ducks Leave Canada, Head For States

The word from Canada? — Get set, duck hunters!

Most of the pintails have migrated out of Canada, and most of the other puddle ducks have left. All waters were open in Manitoba, and the bluebills and mallards "piling in" the southern par of the province.

Win Stephens of Minneapolis reports that he is having the best bluebill (greater scaup) and mallard shooting in years at his hunting camp near Detroit Lakes, Minn. Bill Leitch, Ducks Unlimited biologist at Winnipeg, said that bluebills and mallards have passed up the bigger lakes in Ontario and were headed south.

Jimmy Robinson of Sports Afield magazine, a resident of St. Ambroise, Manitoba, reports that there is no big movement of ducks in Manitoba, but canvasbacks, pintails, blue-wing teal and redheads have moved south.

Most local mallards have left, he says, but others are pouring in from the north. It has rained in central Manitoba for the past two weeks, and roads are inaccessible.

"Cloudy weather has kept night-time temperatures up in Manitoba, but Gordon Kerr, chief biologist of Alberta, told me that many of their small sloughs were frozen and the ducks have moved into the larger lakes and mallards were feeding in the grain fields from Calgary north," he said.

Up to the present, duck hunting has been spotty in Nebraska. Hunters along the Missouri River, and those working the Rainwater Basin marshes, have had good luck according to reports. Other areas have been a "touch and go" proposition, ducks in the air some days, other days nothing at all.

But if the reports from Canada aren't way off base, duck hunters had better get prepared for an invasion of ducks.

NU Frosh Host ISU

Nebraska's freshman football team attempts to get back into the win column Friday as it hosts Iowa State.

The Cornhusker yearlings dropped a 21-13 decision to McCook Junior College in their last outing after a 42-19 win over Missouri's frosh in their season opener.

Iowa State has played just once, losing 24-14 to Iowa Central Junior College of Fort Dodge.

"It looks like a good matchup," says Cornhusker coach Jim Ross. "We've lost to a junior college team and so have they. In both cases it was a matter of the junior college team having an edge in experience and polish."

Ross will go with basically the same lineups which opened in the first two games in the 2:30 p.m. test with Iowa State.

Opening on offense will be a backfield consisting of Max Linder at quarterback, Johnny Rodgers and Bill Olds at halfbacks and George Eiben at fullback.

Up front, Jack Siemsen will be the center, Joe Duffy and Dan Anderson the guards, Daryl White and Monte Johnson the tackles and Kelly Schulz and Randy Curtis the ends.

The alternate offensive team, which will play the first quarter on defense, includes John O'Connell at quarterback, Randy Butts and Joe Blahak at halfbacks and Bill Norberg at fullback.

In the line for their unit are Tom Deyke at center, Jon Strong and Steve Cook at guards, Rich Glover and Marc Douglas at tackles and Doug Johnson and Frosty Anderson at ends.

Swing performers with both clubs who will concentrate on defense are end John Dutton and middle guard Willie Harper.

NWU Harriers Race In Six-Team Meet

Nebraska Wesleyan hosts a six-team college cross-country invitational Friday. The five-mile run will be held at the East High School course beginning at 4 p.m.

NWU's young harriers are led by freshman Andy Aiken and veteran Jack McVay. Other top entrants include Peru's Jack Weyers, the defending champion, Ron Uarich of Doane and Dave Biehl of Hastings.

Nicklaus, Graham Courtney Leading

Napa, Calif. (AP) — Slimmed-down Jack Nicklaus, Chuck Courtney and drawling Lou Graham all cut out 6s Thursday and shared the first round lead in the $140,000 Kaiser International open golf tournament.

All three played on the 6,602-yard, par 35-37 south course, one of two at the swank Silverado Country Club being utilized for the first two rounds.

They held a one-stroke lead over veteran Ed Snead, Don January, who also played the south course, and young Ron Cerrudo, who went over the longer, tougher, 6,849-yard north course, also par 72.

All players switch courses for the second round Friday and the final two rounds will be played only the north course.

In the big group at 68, four under par, were Doug Sanders, Billy Casper and Chi Chi Rodriguez, who played the north side, and four more from the south, Frank Beard, Steve Reid, Tommy Aaron and rookie John Miller.

Arnold Palmer took a 71, Steve Spray, winner of last week's San Francisco Open, had a 74, and struggling Tom Weiskopf had a fat 11 on one hole and finished with a whopping 81.

Nicklaus, who has trimmed about 20 pounds off his usual playing weight of 210, had six birdies, no bogeys, and closed with birds on the last two holes. One came on an 10-foot putt and another hole was a 20-footer.

Nicklaus, who won at Sahara, his last outing, had only one other long putt — a 20 footer — two-putted a par five and had a couple of six footers for his other birdies.

Courtney, a 29-year-old tour veteran who won the Satellite Tallahassee Open earlier this year, who said he putted extremely well, birdies the 15th through the 17th holes on putts of 30, 5 and 45 feet. He had one bogey, three-putting, but matched that with a 30 foot birdie putt, had another from five and reached two par fives in two.

Graham, a five-year veteran from Tennessee who hasn't won in more than two years, didn't have a bogey and rifled his irons with such precision that the longest of his six birdie putts was 10 feet.

Salt Valley Has Waterfowl Hunts, Starting Nov. 1

More than 4,300 acres of land and water at three Salt Valley lake areas will be opened to waterfowl hunters for the first time on November 1, thanks to changes in Game Commission regulations governing the reservoirs.

Waterfowl refuges most of the year, Pawnee, Bluestem, and Wagon Train state recreation areas will be open to duck and goose hunters from November 1 through the end of the waterfowl seasons. Other Salt Valley areas already providing sport for waterfowl hunters include Branched Oak Lake, Hedgefield Special Use Area, and Teal Special Use Area. These areas have been open to other types of hunting since October 1.

Hunting for all species except waterfowl is permitted at Conestoga, Olive Creek, Stagecoach, and Yankee Hill recreation areas. Twin Lakes State Recreation Area is a game refuge and is closed to all hunting.

Restrictions may be in effect on certain portions of these Salt Valley sites, but signs will mark areas affected.

'Great Pumpkin' Brings Goodies

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — Good grief, Charley Brown! It just had to be — on Halloween Eve — the winner of the ninth race at Churchill Downs Thursday was Great Pumpkin.

Despite the fact the three-year-old colt was a maiden, it didn't fool too many people. The fans sensed the drama- and Great Pumpkin paid $10.80.

Hike In Insurance Rates OKd By Lincoln Ed Board

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

A rate increase in the Lincoln Public Schools employe health insurance program was approved by the Board of Education Thursday although board members felt the across-the-board increase was inequitable.

On a 4-2 vote, board members accepted the Lincoln Education Association recommendation to raise by $1.91 per month the premium rates for both single and family coverage, rather than to cut benefits.

Board members contended that on the basis of actual loss comparisons, single coverage should be raised only $1.21 and family coverage raised $2.46.

However, LEA representatives told the board that the teachers group, after studying the insurance program, had decided a fair increase would be the same amount for both kinds of coverage.

District Pays $6.20

The increase would raise the total monthly premium for Blue Cross Blue Shield and major medical to $8.70 for singles and $24.34 for families. The school district pays $6.20 toward each policy.

The board members decided to approve the proposal for an across-the-board increase "because it is the employes' money," although members emphasized that they disagreed with it.

LEA representatives said that clerical, food service and operation and maintenance staff persons had concurred with the proposal.

Statement Okayed

In other business the board approved 5-1 a lengthy statement on general policies and procedures for school building construction.

In addition to outlining minimum facilities in each building, the policy provides that elementary schools will generally be provided within one mile of residence and junior high schools within two miles.

General parameters for sizes of school buildings were set at 75-120 pupils per age group for elementary; 300-400 per age group for junior high and 400-800 per age group for senior high.

Review Required

It was also reported that the board had agreed, in a earlier executive session, that the wording of any recommendations with respect to new construction should be reviewed in advance of presentation for action by the board.

Board member Robert Wekesser voted against the policies, because, he said later, he felt staff persons should be able to participate more in the actual layout of the floor plans.

Presenting a report on an experimental Saturday morning art class project for elementary children, the Junior League of Lincoln recommended that the district incorporate the use of certified art teachers in the elementary program.

The league suggested that certified art instructors could be used as consultants to teachers in classrooms or workshops to serve as supervisors for art student teachers, or to teach art in special room with or without the assistance of the classroom teacher.

In other business the board:

—took no action on a request from the Rev. William R. Jones to establish an Evelyn Woods Reading Dynamics scholarship program in the schools. Supt. John Prasch reported he had administratively denied the request because the program would result in a promotion of a commercial enterprise and the schools could not endorse the reading program.

—was told that the districts total fund balances were lower in September than at the same time last year, reflecting a shift in the timing of school district income as a result of the changes in tax delinquency dates.

—accepted numerous bids for new school buses and other vehicles.

Advisory Unit To Develop Course For Graphic Arts

An advisory committee to develop a graphic arts vocational course in the Lincoln Technical College was authorized by the Board of Education sitting as the governing board of the Technical College.

Asst. Supt. Dr. James Lightbody told the board that the adult education staff is convinced after several meetings with area business and industrial leaders that a graphic arts course is needed to train men and women for numerous jobs in printing available here.

The advisory committee would be composed of representatives from the business and industrial community as well as adult educators, Lightbody said.

In other business Thursday the board was told that a total of 7,676 persons were registered for 252,581 instructional hours in adult programs during the year ending Sept. 1, 1969.

The largest number of persons were registered in adult home and family life short courses, although the most instructional hours were being given by the Adult High School, according to Lightbody.

The number of registrations and instructional hours, per division, were: adult basic education, 710 registrations, 43,932 hours; Adult High School, 1,448, 63,625; adult office and business education, 610, 24,125; adult distributive education, 499, 9,678; adult home and family life education, 1,947, 31,030; adult trade and industrial education, 951, 48,791; adult general education, 1,183, 25,924; co-sponsored programs, 328, 5,476.

Lightbody indicated that figures showing some 14,000 adults in various courses, reported in previous years, had been inflated as a result of the counting procedures vary considerably in length.

A University of Nebraska professor of animal science will be honored Saturday by Murray State College, Murray, Ky., as the outstanding agricultural alumnus of the year.

Dr. Walter Woods, an NU staff member for seven years, will receive the award at the school during an alumni breakfast for all agricultural graduates. This is the fifth year the award has been given, with the recipient selected by alums and faculty of the agricultural branch of the college.

Chosen for his contributions to agriculture, Woods is widely recognized in the field of beef nutrition, and is well known in midwestern beef cattle circles.

Lincoln State Hospital Employes To Unionize

At a meeting Thursday evening, participating employes of the Lincoln State Hospital voted unanimously to follow through with plans for an organizing campaign for unionization.

According to John Oliva, a representative of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (AFSCME), an AFL-CIO affiliated union, unionization would effect 600 nonsupervisory employes of the State Hospital.

Immediate plans are to reach a majority status for unionization by Jan. 1. According to Oliva, membership in the union would be strictly voluntary.

The AFSCME already represents nonsupervisory employes at the Beatrice, Hastings and Norfolk State Hospitals.

The overall result of the Lincoln hospital unionization would place employes of all four institutions in the same organization, thereby enabling collective bargaining on wages, hours and other conditions of employment.

Sisters Held In California Linked With Fremont Fire

San Rafael, Calif. (AP) — Two sisters who recently arrived from Nebraska were held Thursday on arson and fugitive warrants charging them with setting a $125,000 fire Oct. 6 at Gifford Lumber Co. in Fremont, Neb.

Bail was set at $10,000 apiece for Mrs. Peggy Marie Ranslem, 21, and Mrs. Shirley Jean Sommer, 25.

Nebraska authorities said the women are accused of starting the fire in retaliation for testimony by the son of the Lumber Company owner that helped send their friends to prison for robbery.

Donald Duane Johnson, 26, previously was charged with second degree arson in the same case. His original bond of $50,000 was reduced to $10,000 Oct. 20 but he remains in the Dodge County jail.

Reliable sources in Fremont said a fourth person is sought in connection with the case.

The fire completely destroyed the block long lumber company complex. No estimate of the loss has been made.

Police Arrest 7 Dope Pushers

New York (UPI) — Police arrested seven alleged dope pushers in front of a Bronx elementary school and confiscated about $250 in change they said was spent by the pre-teens to satisfy their drug habit.

The pennies, nickels, dimes and dollar bills were originally intended to buy school lunches for the children, officials said.

Police said they seized 100 decks of a substance believed to be heroin, six ounces of reportedly pure heroin, and a capsule of cocaine. Also taken into custody was some reportedly stolen merchandise used by the elementary school children to buy the narcotics.

East Students Hold 'Town Hall' Meets

Classes came to a halt for an hour at East High School Thursday morning as teachers set aside the regular curriculum to hold "town hall" meetings on school problems.

Student proposals discussed in the classroom meetings ranged from freedom to leave the school grounds at lunchtime and fewer required courses to a separate building for junior high students.

Each classroom group summarized the student discussion and forwarded the reports to Principal Jean McGrew, who will review the proposals with faculty and student representatives and determine how to handle the questions and requests.

McGrew said there were no prescribed topics for the meetings, but that discussion had to relate to the school, its problems and potential.

Assistant Principal Frank Masek reported that greatest student concern seemed to be for a student lounge, open campus at noon, more choice in selecting courses and more privileges for junior high students.

Senior high students complained that a separate building is needed for the junior high students because 12-18 years is too big an age gap to have in the same building.

E. Germany Protests Visit Brandt Plans

©The New York Times

Berlin — The East German Communists protested in a sharply worded statement Thursday against the planned visit Friday by Chancellor Willy Brandt, asserting he had no right to come to West Berlin, 110 miles inside East Germany.

The wording of the protest, issued by the East German foreign ministry, implied that the Communists are considering maximum demands on Berlin from Brandt's new West German government.

Mrs. Whiting Is Ed Director At Penal Unit

Mrs. Edith Whiting has become the new director of education at the Nebraska Penal Complex, and it may be another "first" for the Austria-born educator.

In 1962, when she began teaching at the Penitentiary, she was the first woman teacher in a men's correctional institution in Nebraska.

In 1965, when she became principal of the school at the Penitentiary, there was reason to believe she was the first woman in the nation to hold that post in a maximum security prison.

Now, there is believed a strong possibility she may be the only women director of education at a prison.

Refunds Slated For Customers Of Gas Company

Natural gas customers in Nebraska communities served by the Cengas division of Central Telephone & Utilities Corp., will receive refunds in November, according to C. G. Wilcox, Cengas Lincoln Division manager.

Cengas was notified in late spring that the Federal Power Commission had approved only a portion of Northern Natural Gas Company's application for higher wholesale rates, which that company had put into effect in February. Refunds are for the amount paid by customers above the rate okayed by the FPC from Feb. 10 to May 27. They will appear on the customer's regular statement as a "gas credit," Wilcox said.

Coalition Hits Nomination

The executive committee of the Nebraska Democratic Coalition Thursday asked Sens. Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis to "re-examine their support" for the nomination of Judge Clement Haynsworth to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The coalition suggested that the two senators "listen with an open mind to the questions many of their colleagues are raising about his qualifications."

Haynsworth, the executive committee said, is "a most inappropriate choice" for associate justice.

His record "indicates he has been insensitive to possible conflicts between his judicial duties and his outside interests as well as totally insensitive to the social processes and needs of a rapidly changing society," the coalition said.

WHAT CAN BE DONE ABOUT NERVE HEARING LOSS

If you have experienced some of the symptoms of nerve loss, the first step is TO SEE YOUR EAR SPECIALIST, where you will be given an audiometric hearing test. This is a simple, painless procedure to determine the exact nature and extent of your impairment.

If it is revealed as a Nerve Type loss, your doctor will tell you that you can regain the use of your hearing with a hearing aid, thus preventing further weakening of the hearing center through disuse.

Market Reverses Downward Course

New York (AP) — In a last minute drive upward, the stock market Thursday reversed its downward course and closed higher in fairly active trading.

It was the first winning session of the week.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had been down more than five points in earlier trading closed up 2.17 at 850.51.

And among 1,592 individual issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, losers lost an early wider margin over winners and ended the day outnumbering gains by a ratio of 704 to 650.

Analysts said the market was technically strong because of light selling pressure during the day's earlier price drop.

"Once the weak sisters were out of the market . . . more confident traders were invited to step in," said one.

Trading volume was 12.82 million shares, compared with 12.39 million Wednesday. There were 17 new highs for the year and 20 new lows.

Trading in blocks of 10,000 shares or more was brisk at 85 blocks, compared with 72 on Wednesday.

The largest block was 220,000 shares of Xerox, off 4 at 102, which helped boost it into the most-active slot on a turnover of 375,000 shares, closing up ¾ at 106¾.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed up .7 at 296.0, with industrials up 1.4, utilities off .3, and rails, up .7.

Of the 20 most-active stocks on the New York Exchange, 12 advanced, and 8 declined.

Villager Industries rose 1⅜ to 12⅜. The company said its banks had agreed to modify a credit arrangement, and it has agreed for Jonathan Logan to manage its operations.

Control Data, which lost 15 Wednesday, closed off 3 at 122¾. Some analysts said the company's increased earnings reports for the third quarter did not meet expectations.

Stocks on the American Stock Exchange were mixed to higher. The Amex price index rose 11 cents to $28.29. Of the 1,059 issues traded, declines outnumbered gains by 466 to 412.

Ten blocks of 10,000 shares or more were traded, compared with 8 on Wednesday.

Upswing Fizzles In Grain Market

Chicago (AP) — A forecast of bad harvesting weather and big foreign demand for wheat, soybeans and soybean oil contributed to a short-lived boomlet on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday. The general upswing ended quickly and a late flurry of liquidation dropped prices of beans and most major grain deliveries under the previous close.

Three 1970 options each in wheat, corn and soybeans closed at the day's lows.

At the close, wheat was ½ cent higher to ½ cent lower December 1.35½; corn was unchanged to ¼ lower, December 1.18¾; oats were unchanged to ⅝ lower, December 60½; rye was ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, December 1.13⅜, and soybeans were ⅜ higher to ½ lower, November 2.44.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Executives To Interpret U.S. Economy

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Promising Approach

The University of Illinois has started an innovation to make students more aware of the fountains and springs whence national affluence comes.

The College of Commerce and Business Administration at Urbana-Champaign is supplementing the teaching apparatus with six corporate executives, each of whom will spend a week in residence on the campus. The experiment will be repeated annually, and the purpose is to create a better understanding of what makes the private enterprise system tick. The schedule includes classroom appearances and informal sessions in lounges.

This is a step in the right direction. Before students or any one else can seriously decide whether to be for or against the Establishment, they should know what it is and how it operates. This approach seems to have greater cultural promise than nihilistic rock throwing.

Force In Motion

If the executives in residence perform well, they will interpret business as a force in motion. Wise corporate executives, who spend lavishly on research and development, know that little is permanent except change. Accordingly, they shouldn't depict the competitive system as a settled place, where all the answers are known. Alert executives, teamed up with creative minds, are forever striving for more productive techniques and new products and services for pleasing customers.

The executives in residence should explain that business survival depends on fighting obsolescence and on making a profit. Instead of being scared, businessmen should defend the profit motive, and interpret how it creates popular economic decision-making.

In business, the customer is the boss. By turning thumbs up or thumbs down on products and services as the case may be, the customer determines who shall be crowned with success in business and what types of products and services should be created.

This is not the case in totalitarian police states, where little commissars in big jobs decide the specifications and quantities of items to be produced. And in such desolate countries the disenfranchised customer must like it or else. Executives in residence should expose the intellectual confusion which creates the propaganda that decision-making by bureaucrats is somehow more democratic that indivudual free choice.

Highest Living Standard

The executives in residence should affirmatively explain to students why our competitive system has created the highest living standards.

There is glamor in the American economic system. That pockets of poverty still exist in the United States is a reminder to young people on the campuses of the challenge to them to develop improvements, which will raise living standards, especially in areas occupied by family heads of low productivity. It would be a dull and unpromising outlook for the young if all the problems had been solved, and if all jobs were adequately filled.

The opportunity for the young is not to tear down the heritage of scientific and technological knowledge, but to build on it. Executives in residence should disclose that business is searching for imaginative and creative young people who are capable of developing into the coming generation of leaders.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self-addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Arthritis Sufferers:

Wake Up Tomorrow Morning Without All That Stiffness!

New pain formula. 50% stronger than a regular aspirin. So you take it less often. Yet so gentle you can take it on an empty stomach.

Doctors must often tell people with arthritis, and its early-morning stiffness, to take a lot of aspirin. Trouble is, many arthritis sufferers get a burning upset stomach from large doses of regular aspirin. But now comes a new formula for arthritis minor pain that (1) is so strong you can take it less often and still wake up in the morning without all the pain's stiffness and (2) is so gentle you can take it on an empty stomach. This means you get both extra medication and extra protection: Extra medication because each tablet contains 50% more pain reliever than regular or buffered aspirin tablets. Extra protection because each tablet contains two antacids and is micronized (which means the tablet particles are so fine the pain reliever is more readily absorbed). Called Arthritis Pain Formula, it was specially developed by the makers of Anacin® to give arthritis sufferers an easier, less upsetting way to wake up without all that early-morning stiffness—and enjoy hours of relief.

Death Penalty Will Be Asked

. . . FOR DUANE POPE

By JOHN ARMSTRONG
Associated Press Writer

Chappell (AP) — A western Nebraska judge will be asked next week to impose the death penalty on bank robber-slayer Duane Pope, who has escaped execution once because of a defective federal statute.

"Yes, I'll seek the death penalty," said Deuel County Atty. Robrt E. Richards. "I think the death penalty is warranted because of the premeditation involved in the crime.

"And because of the crime itself. It was so terrible."

Richards will be the prisecutor for the State of Nebraska when Pope, a young, lean Kansan, goes on trial a second time for the bloody June 4, 1965, robbery and killings at the Farmers Bank in Big Springs.

Just 23 Miles

Big Springs is just 23 miles east of Chappell, where Judge John Kuns of Nebraska's 19th Judicial District will conduct the trial next Thursday.

Pope will be defended by former Nebraska Gov. Robert B. Crosby of Lincoln and University of Nebraska law Prof. Wallace M. Rudolph, who also represented Pope in a five-week federal trial in the fall of 1965.

As Crosby put it, the case is "just packed with legal issues."

For instance, if Judge Kuns finds Pope guilty of first degree murder, can he impose capital punishment?

Does this second trial subject Pope to double jeopardy? jeopardy?

Is Nebraska's first degree murder statute constitutional?

Sanity Issue

And the major question: Was Pope sane and in control of his actions on the rainy June day four and a half years ago?

The Roxbury, Kan., farm boy and college graduate, now 26, originally was prosecuted by federal authorities for the deaths of three bank employes, Andreas Kjeldgaard, Glenn Hendrickson and Lois Ann Hothan, and the crippling of a fourth, Franklin Kjeldaard.

Pope was convicted by a federal jury and sentenced to death, but the U.S. Supreme Court vacated the sentence. U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt then resentenced him to life imprisonment.

Pope now faces 11 state charges, inciuding three counts of first degree murder. He waived his right to a jury trial, so the case will be heard by Judge Kuns alone.

No Direct Testimonyv

There will be no direct testimony at the state trial since the prosecution and the defense have stipulated the federal trial testimony, which is contained in 18 volumes totaling about 6.200 pages.

Richards said he hopes to convince the judge, as the testimony had convinced the federal jury, that Pope was sane and in control of his faculties when he committed the crime.

Federal prosecutors claimed at the trial four years ago that Pope was in need of money and "this was a deliberate, cold, vicious, murderous, premeditated scheme to enrich himself."

The defense lawyers contended, on the other hand, that Pope "was suffering from a desperate and pathetic mental illness that, like a terrible demon, took away from him his capacity to control his conduct."

Schizoid Personality

At the federal trial psychiatrists for the defense and the government agreed that Pope had a schizoid personality, but they disagreed over whether Pope was, in fact, legally insane.

Aside from the sanity issue, the defense lawyers will concentrate on two legal arguments.

"First of all, we contend that the first degree murder statute in effect in Nebraska at the time of the crime was defective for the same reason the federal kidnapping and bank robbery statutes were found to be defective," said Crosby.

"Under the Nebraska statute, as was the case under the federal statutes, the jury could impose the death penalty but the judge could not. This discourages a defendant from exercising his right to a jury trial.

Double Jeopardy

"Secondly, we believe this trial subjects Duane to double jeopardy."

Richards said he disagrees with the defense interpretation of the Nebraska first degree murder statute. He said he believes the judge can impose the death penalty upon conviction in a trial by judge.

The county attorney has had a long time to prepare his case against Pope, who has watched the legal battle at various times from the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan., and from the State Penitentiary in Lincoln.

Richards was the one who filed the state charges against Pope shortly after the bank robbery, and the county attorney sat in on the lengthy federal trial in Lincoln.

Within Hours

Within hours after Pope had been sentenced to life imprisonment, Richards started the ball rolling on prosecution in the state courts.

"I suppose you could say I've been preparing this case ever since June 4, 1965," Richards said.

He said an investigation indicates Pope, under a federal sentence of life imprisonment, could expect to be released in 11 or 12 years.

"As county attorney for Deuel County," he said, "I feel it's my duty to go forward on the complaints filed in order to see that justice is done in this matter.

"I would be derelict in my duty if I did nothing to prevent him from walking the streets free in 11 or 12 years."
